Other Events

On September 27, 2018, Fly Leasing Limited (“Fly”) completed the transfer of seven additional aircraft pursuant to the Share Purchase Agreement (as may be amended from time to time, the “SPA”), dated February 28, 2018, among Fly, its subsidiary, Fly Aladdin Holdings Limited, AirAsia Group Berhad, as successor to AirAsia Berhad (“AirAsia”), and its subsidiary, Asia Aviation Capital Limited (“AACL”). As of September 27, 2018, 29 Airbus A320-200 aircraft on operating leases to AirAsia and its affiliated airlines (the “AirAsia Group”) have been transferred pursuant to the SPA and related agreements, in partial completion of Fly’s previously announced acquisition of a major portfolio of aircraft and engines from AACL. Fly expects to complete the transfer of the remaining assets in the portfolio, comprised of four additional Airbus A320-200 aircraft and seven engines on operating leases to the AirAsia Group, and one Airbus A320-200 aircraft on operating lease to a third-party airline, in October 2018 (the “Portfolio A Transactions”).

As previously announced, Fly also will acquire 21 Airbus A320neo family aircraft on operating leases to the AirAsia Group as the aircraft deliver from Airbus between 2019 and 2021, and will have the option to purchase 20 Airbus A320neo family aircraft, not subject to lease, which begin delivering from the manufacturer in 2019 (together with the Portfolio A Transactions, the “AirAsia Transactions”).

Forward Looking Statements

This report includes forward-looking statements regarding the AirAsia Transactions that are not historical or current facts and deal with potential future circumstances and developments, in particular statements regarding whether and when the AirAsia Transactions and related transactions will be consummated. Forward-looking statements are qualified by the inherent risks and uncertainties surrounding future expectations generally and may materially differ from actual future experience. Risks and uncertainties that could affect forward-looking statements include: satisfaction of conditions to the closing of additional assets as contemplated in connection with the AirAsia Transactions; satisfaction of conditions to the financing of additional assets as contemplated in connection with the AirAsia Transactions; Fly’s ability to obtain additional required financing for the AirAsia Transactions on favorable terms, or at all; the risk that the expected benefits of the AirAsia Transactions may not be fully realized or may take longer to realize than expected; the risk that business disruption resulting from the AirAsia Transactions may be greater than expected; and the risks that are described in Fly’s reports filed with the SEC, including the annual report on Form 20-F for the year ended December 31, 2017. This report speaks only as of its date and Fly disclaims any duty to update the information herein other than as required by applicable law or regulation.
