Item 8.01 Other Events

On October 15, 2008, Cal-Maine Foods, Inc. (the “Company”) was served with process in a class action complaint filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania by T.K. Ribbing’s Family Restaurant, Falconer, New York, on behalf of itself and “all others similarly situated.” The complaint, filed on September 25, 2008, named sixteen defendants, including other egg producers and companies part of the egg industry, and industry cooperatives (civil action number 2:08-CV-4653). Plaintiff seeks unspecified damages and injunctive relief, as well as attorneys’ fees and costs, under the United States antitrust laws against defendants.

The complaint alleges that the Company and all other defendants, by various means and alleged activities, conspired to reduce the supply of eggs and egg products in the United States, in order to artificially raise the price of eggs and egg products above competitive levels. Plaintiff is seeking certification of a class of all entities that purchased eggs or egg products in the United States directly from the defendants from January 1, 2000 through the present. The Company denies Plaintiff’s allegations and intends to vigorously defend itself in this case.

The Company also has been named as a defendant in six other suits filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, but has not yet been formally served with process in those cases. The allegations in the other suits are similar to the allegations in the Ribbing’s case. The Company denies the allegations in these other suits and intends to vigorously defend itself in those cases, as well.
