Management Comments

"This was a very good start to 2015, with results exceeding the top end of our quarterly guidance for both revenue and profitability," commented Eitan Oppenhaim, President and CEO of Nova. "Beyond our solid business and operational execution against our key strategic objectives, this quarter was highlighted by the milestone acquisition of ReVera. Following the closing we are satisfied with the integration process so far and encouraged by the growing adoption of our X-Ray solutions, which already extended our reach into the Memory space with three major Memory players ordering several XPS standalone tools. This progress has strengthened our outlook for the future, once again assuring our long-term growth model."

"The recent acquisition is another key accomplishment in our strategic plan to diversify our portfolio and deliver organic and inorganic growth," continued Mr. Oppenhaim. "Bookings for the expanded company in the first quarter, and thus far in the second quarter, reflect a pickup in business potential, which will drive growth in the following quarters, accelerating our growth for the whole year and bolstering our optimism going forward."
