an option to sell up to 20 per cent
of a subsidiary
of TNK-BP

through an initial public offering (IPO) on the international financial markets at an appropriate future point
, subject to the consent of the Russian authorities

BP chairman Peter Sutherland said that an agreement would

align the
two sides
around a shared
agenda for value growth and allow BP and
AAR
to move forward, relieving recent tensions.

"It will create a stable base from which to grow the joint venture to the benefit of everyone involved, including the Russian state for which strong capital investment and continued technical innovation to boost declining oil output are so important," Sutherland said.

BP chief executive Tony Hayward described the agreement
as "a sensible

means of resolving
a situation
that could not continue without causing serious damage
to what has been an immensely successful joint venture for all concerned.

"I now look forward to a fruitful conclusion of negotiations so that we can rebuild trust with

and resume our
record of success for the benefit of all parties

" he said.
"A
transparent, responsible approach to governance
will be
a critical factor
in the appeal of TNK-BP
to potential future
investors

if the company
is to be fully valued o n the financial markets
."

The MOU envisages the appointment of a new independent chief executive nominated by BP and approved by the TNK-BP board. The management committee, responsible for running operations, will be reduced significantly from the current 14 members and will include the chief executive, the chief operating officer, the chief financial officer and an executive director.

The main board of TNK-BP

will
be adjusted in size
to four representatives each from BP and

together with the three new independent directors not affiliated to either side
. The company
will continue to operate under English law.

Current chief executive Bob Dudley
will
step down before the end of the year
. In no
mi nating his replacement, BP will offer a Russian-speaking candidate with extensive Russian business experience.
The new CEO will be explicitly incentivised to focus on further

i

improving transparency, financial returns and the market value of the company's shares.

Describing

Dudley as "an absolutely outstanding CEO of great courage and strength of character

Hayward

said:

"Bob originally

intended

to step down

at the beginning of the year but volunteered to stay in place to guide the joint venture through what he realised would be a difficult transitional phase

. He will be very hard to replace.

During the last

five years h

is leadership has been crucial in building what is arguably the most successful oil business in

Russia

, with the best record of production growth, reserves replacement and total shareholder return

. He has overseen extraordinary performance, financial and technical, delivering dividends of more than $ 20

billion during that period and paying taxes and duties to the Russian Federation

of over $8

0 billion, a record that is surely unrivalled,"

Hayward

said.

Notes to Editors

TNK-BP posted record profits of $4.7 billion in the first half of this year - more than double the $2.1 billion for the same period in 2007.

Revenues totalled $28.3 billion in last half-year, compared with $

17 billion in the first half of 2007.

Oil production has risen in the past four consecutive quarters, to a level of 1.63 million barrels a day.

TNK-BP has more than replaced reserves each year since it was formed in August 2003.
