Item 8.01. Other Events.

The following is an update to “Most recent rate proceedings” under “Commitments and contingencies” in Note 3 of the Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements, and the discussion in “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations - Electric utility” under “Most recent rate proceedings,” which are incorporated herein by reference to pages 19-20, and 68-69 of HEI’s and Hawaiian Electric’s Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended September 30, 2017.

On December 15, 2017, the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Hawaii (PUC) issued an interim decision and order (Interim D&O) in Hawaiian Electric’s 2017 test year rate case proceeding. The Interim D&O is based on an overall rate of return (ROR) of 7.57%, which reflects a capital structure that includes a 57% common equity and the stipulated return on average common equity (ROE) for interim purposes of 9.5%. The Interim D&O adopted many of the matters agreed upon by Hawaiian Electric and the Consumer Advocate in their Stipulated Settlement Letter filed on November 15, 2017; however, the PUC made three downward adjustments. The first adjustment results from lowering the pension regulatory asset (and increasing the postretirement benefits, or OPEB, regulatory liability) (net pension regulatory asset), thereby reducing the amount of corresponding amortization of such net pension regulatory asset, which reduces the interim increase based on the stipulated agreement by $6 million. The second adjustment results from reducing a pension contribution regulatory asset, thereby reducing the amount of corresponding amortization, which reduces the interim increase by $5 million. The third adjustment is a $5 million revenue reduction, pending further examination of the prudence of Hawaiian Electric’s baseline plant additions.

The adjustment to lower net pension regulatory asset balance is based on the PUC’s ruling that by Hawaiian Electric’s request to forego a base rate increase in the 2014 test year rate case, Hawaiian Electric relinquished a part of the recovery of the pension costs that had accrued in the pension and OPEB tracker that would have been recovered as a result of the 2014 rate case. The adjustment to lower the pension contribution regulatory asset is based on assuming the regulatory asset, established in 2011, was amortized from 2011. As a result of the Interim D&O, Hawaiian Electric expects it will be required to write-off $25 million ($16 million net of tax) in net pension regulatory asset in December 2017, unless the Commission reverses its decision based on Hawaiian Electric’s motion for partial reconsideration of the Interim D&O filed on December 22, 2017. In addition, unless the Commission reverses its decision, it is expected that it may no longer be probable that Maui Electric’s pension regulatory asset of approximately $1.7 million ($1 million net of tax) will be recoverable, and a write-off would be required. The expected total write-off equates to about an 85 basis points reduction in the Hawaiian Electric Consolidated 2017 ROE.

Hawaiian Electric filed a motion for reconsideration of the net pension regulatory asset issue requesting the PUC to issue an order by January 22, 2018, to restore the reduction of $6 million in revenue requirement, and that the reversal is not subject to reinstatement in the final decision and order, and as a result, granting an interim rate relief of approximately $43.7 million.

Hawaiian Electric is preparing revised schedules and revised revenue requirements, reflecting the Interim D&O. The Consumer Advocate may file comments on Hawaiian Electric’s calculations within five days of the filing of the revised schedules. The Interim D&O indicated that the PUC intends to further review Hawaiian Electric’s ROE, Hawaiian Electric’s overhead policy change, modifications to the Energy Cost Adjustment Clause and the components of target revenue used in the decoupling mechanism.

The Interim D&O will be implemented after the PUC issues a decision on Hawaiian Electric’s calculations. If the amounts collected pursuant to an interim D&O exceed the amount of the increase ultimately approved in the final D&O, then the excess would have to be refunded to Hawaiian Electric's customers with interest.

The remaining schedule for this proceeding has Hawaiian Electric's rebuttal testimonies due on January 5, 2018, and evidentiary hearings scheduled for early March 2018.

Management cannot predict the ultimate outcome of the motion for reconsideration, the amount and timing for implementing the interim increase or the ultimate outcome or timing of the final D&O for Hawaiian Electric's 2017 test year rate case proceeding.

Hawaiian Electric issued a news release, "Hawaiian Electric seeks commission approval to recover pension contributions." The news release is furnished as Exhibit 99.
