This filing contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Such statements include, but are not limited to, (i) statements about the benefits of the merger between First Union Corporation and Wachovia Corporation, including future financial and operating results, cost savings, enhanced revenues, and accretion to reported earnings that may be realized from the merger; (ii) statements with respect to First Union's and Wachovia's plans, objectives, expectations and intentions and other statements that are not historical facts; and (iii) other statements identified by words such as "believes", "expects", "anticipates", "estimates", "intends", "plans", "targets", "projects" and similar expressions. These statements are based upon the current beliefs and expectations of First Union's and Wachovia's management and are subject to significant risks and uncertainties. Actual results may differ from those set forth in the forward-looking statements.

The following factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ materially from the anticipated results or other expectations expressed in the forward-looking statements: (1) the risk that the businesses of First Union and Wachovia will not be integrated successfully or such integration may be more difficult, time-consuming or costly than expected; (2) expected revenue synergies and cost savings from the merger may not be fully realized or realized within the expected time frame; (3) revenues following the merger may be lower than expected; (4) deposit attrition, operating costs, customer loss and business disruption following the merger, including, without limitation, difficulties in maintaining relationships with employees, may be greater than expected; (5) the ability to obtain governmental approvals of the merger on the proposed terms and schedule; (6) the failure of First Union's and Wachovia's stockholders to approve the merger; (7) competitive pressures among depository and other financial institutions may increase significantly and have an effect on pricing, spending, third-party relationships and revenues; (8) the strength of the United States economy in general and the strength of the local economies in which the combined company will conduct operations may be different than expected resulting in, among other things, a deterioration in credit quality or a reduced demand for credit, including the resultant effect on the combined company's loan portfolio and allowance for loan losses; (9) changes in the U.S. and foreign legal and regulatory framework; and (10) adverse conditions in the stock market, the public debt market and other capital markets (including changes in interest rate conditions) and the impact of such conditions on the combined company's capital markets and asset management activities. Additional factors that could cause First Union's and Wachovia's results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements can be found in First Union's and Wachovia's reports (such as Annual Reports on Form 10-K, Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q and Current Reports on Form 8-K) filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission and available at the SEC's Internet site (http://www.sec.gov). Reasonable and Appropriately Paced Merger Planning

"The cost savings potential in a First Union/Wachovia combination is greater than in a SunTrust/Wachovia combination...The greater cost savings are possible in a First Union/Wachovia combination largely because the branch overlap is greater." Thomas K. Brown, Second Curve Capital, June 4, 2001

"Management appears to be highly conscientious of minimizing risk in this integration. To this end, the company [First Union] is intent on understanding and smoothly integrating the businesses they are merging with and staying focused on customer satisfaction. Merger transition teams, comprised of employees from both First Union and Wachovia, are well along in the process of conducting transition due diligence and developing an integration strategy. The two companies appear to be leaving no stone unturned." George A. Bicher, Deutsche Banc Alex. Brown Inc., June 14, 2001

"First Union is well advanced in planning the merger integration with Wachovia...We are very impressed by the approach the new company is taking, which is very customer-oriented. This includes not closing any branches for a year after the merger closes, communicating with customers, and most important paying attention to branch capacity." Ronald I. Mandle, Sanford C. Bernstein Inc., June 28, 2001
