Letter from the President

Dear Shareholder:

Despite tepid growth earlier in the year, the US economy improved as the six-month fiscal reporting period ended July 31, 2015. Against this backdrop, longer-term bond yields moved higher and US equities generated positive returns.

Julian Sluyters

Six Months in Review through July 31, 2015

President & CEO

For the period since the Fund's inception on May 27, 2015 through July 31, 2015:

• AllianzGI Diversified Income & Convertible Fund returned -1.69% on net asset value (NAV) and returned -15.58% on market price.

For the six-month reporting period ended July 31, 2015:

• AllianzGI NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy Fund returned 1.57% on NAV and returned -3.40% on market price.

• AllianzGI Equity & Convertible Income Fund returned 4.62% on NAV and returned 0.84% on market price.

During the reporting period, the Russell 3000 Index, a broad measure of US stock market performance, increased 6.61%; the Russell 1000 Value Index, a measure of large-cap value-style stocks, rose 3.98%; and the Russell 1000 Growth Index, a measure of growth style stocks, advanced 9.16%. Convertible securities, as reflected by the BofA Merrill Lynch All Convertibles Index, returned 4.03%. The BofA Merrill Lynch High Yield Master II Index, generally representative of the high yield market, returned -2.07% since the AllianzGI Diversified Income & Convertible Fund was incepted on May 27, 2015, and returned 1.16% during the full reporting period.

Turning to the US economy, gross domestic product (GDP), the value of goods and services produced in the country, the broadest measure of economic activity and the principal indicator of economic performance, expanded at a revised annual pace of 2.1% during the fourth quarter of 2014. The economy then moderated during the first quarter of 2015 as the US Commerce Department reported that GDP grew at an annual pace of 0.6%. However, economic activity then improved as the Commerce Department's second estimate showed that GDP released after the reporting period ended grew at an annual pace of 3.7% for the second quarter of 2015.

Edgar Filing: AllianzGI Equity & Convertible Income Fund - Form N-CSRS

The Federal Reserve (the Fed) maintained an accommodative monetary policy during the reporting period, but it appeared to move closer to its first rate hike in nearly a decade. At its March 2015 meeting, the Fed eliminated the word patient from its official statement regarding when it may start raising rates. Then, at its June 2015 meeting, the Fed said that it currently anticipates that, even after employment and inflation are near mandate-consistent levels, economic conditions may, for some time, warrant keeping the target federal funds rate below levels the Committee views as normal in the longer run. At its meeting in July 2015, the Fed noted continued progress in the US economy and labor market but was still not ready to begin raising rates.

Outlook

We believe macroeconomic data remain consistent with a moderate pace of growth in the US in coming months, although we will likely see a low growth environment globally.

Despite the changing economic environment, we believe bond markets still do not appear to be priced for the start of Fed tightening. This, combined with poor bond-market liquidity, could result in more volatility as we get closer to interest rate lift-off. While this volatility may affect equities more than bonds, we believe that stocks should see support from improving economic growth.

AllianzGI Diversified Income & Convertible Fund Fund Insights

For the period from inception on May 27, 2015 through July 31, 2015 as provided by Doug Forsyth, CFA, Portfolio Manager.

For the period since the Fund's inception through July 31, 2015, the AllianzGI Diversified Income & Convertible Fund (the Fund) returned -1.69% on NAV and -15.58% on market price

During the period from the Fund's inception through July 31, 2015, the Russell 1000 Growth Index, a measure of growth style stocks, advanced 0.61%; High Yield securities, as reflected by the BofA Merrill Lynch High Yield Master II Index, returned -2.07%; and Convertible securities, as reflected by the BofA Merrill Lynch All Convertibles Index, returned -2.93%.

Market Environment

Several factors influenced the equity, convertible and high-yield markets during the period – most notably commodity prices, economic data, corporate earnings, the movement in the US Treasury market and the Fed's outlook.

One influential factor was the sharp drop in crude oil and metal prices during July as angst around slowing economic activity in China increased. Steep price declines weighed on producers, pressuring commodity-linked sectors.

On the economic front, improving indicators signaled continued US expansion. The positive trends in data supported the favorable backdrop for equities, convertible and high-yield securities.

Another factor that influenced the markets was corporate earnings. As anticipated, adverse weather conditions, a West Coast port shutdown and a strong dollar dampened profits, but earnings growth was impressive nonetheless.

Treasury-rate volatility affected a portion of the convertible and high-yield markets throughout the period. Despite a drop in July, the 10-year Treasury rate moved higher during the reporting period. This had a negative impact on bond-like or busted convertible securities, and it negatively affected sentiment on yield-producing investments such as utilities and REITS. The impact on the high-yield market was mixed. The increase in Treasury yields supported the BB rated, more narrow-spread issuers in the period.

Global central banks have continued to be accommodative. Although there has been investor uncertainty around the timing of the first rate hike and the path of US monetary policy thereafter, the Fed's message has remained consistent: Changes in policy will be data-dependent and international developments will be assessed.

Against this backdrop, investment-grade convertible issuers outperformed non-investment-grade issuers and total-return convertibles outperformed yield or busted categories. Thus far, 2015 new issuance has been robust and on pace to exceed 2014's elevated levels.

The Chicago Board Options Exchange Volatility Index (VIX) decreased concurrent with equity market strength. The VIX ended the reporting period at 12.12 after starting at 13.27.

Portfolio Specifics

In the equity sleeve, stock picking was strongest in the financials, consumer discretionary and energy sectors. Conversely, security selection in the materials, health care and industrials sectors hampered performance.

In the convertibles sleeve, sector allocations that helped relative performance in the period included energy, health care and technology. An underweight in the energy sector and an overweight in the health care sector were beneficial. Issue selection was positive in the technology sector. In contrast, exposure to the utilities, transportation and consumer staples sectors detracted. All three sectors were impacted by issue selection.

In the high-yield sleeve, industries that helped relative performance in the period included metals/mining ex steel, energy and health care. Having no exposure to metals/mining ex steel had a positive impact. An underweight and positive issue selection in energy was beneficial. In health care, an overweight and issue selection were areas of strength. In contrast, technology, banking and support-services detracted from relative performance. Having no exposure to banking had a negative impact. Issue selection in technology and support-services were areas of weakness.

Regarding the options strategy, many of the covered call option positions expired below strike and the portfolio was able to retain the set premiums.

AllianzGI NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy Fund Fund Insights

For the period of February 1, 2015, through July 31, 2015 as provided by Krysta Hill, Product Specialist Associate.

For the six-month period ended July 31, 2015, the AllianzGI NFJ Dividend, Interest & Premium Strategy Fund (the Fund) returned 1.57% on NAV and -3.40% on market price.

During the reporting period, the Russell 1000 Value Index, a measure of large-cap value-style stocks, rose 3.98%; and Convertible securities, as reflected by the BofA Merrill Lynch All Convertibles Index, returned 4.03%.

Market Environment

US equities appreciated over the six-month reporting period, driven in part by positive first quarter earnings and robust merger & acquisition activity, including Anthem and Cigna's agreement to a $54 billion deal and Teva Pharmaceutical's deal to acquire Allergan for $40.5 billion. In February and April, share prices rocketed to new all-time highs on Wall Street as investors applauded strong economic data, easy monetary policy and fresh measures to keep Greece in the euro zone. In February alone, the S&P 500 Index climbed into uncharted territory with a 5.75% rally, its biggest in 40 months. Commodity markets also recovered in February after posting losses for nine consecutive months, the longest down streak since at least 1986. The first quarter saw anemic growth in the US. Weakness was attributed to a range of factors, including harsh winter weather, the West Coast port strike, falling energy industry investment and a steep drop in exports. However, growth picked up significantly in the US in the second quarter. Markets also processed an increasingly politicized dialogue regarding the Greek debt crisis. At the close of the quarter, the crisis deteriorated further as Greece defaulted on its €1.55 billion ($1.73 billion) June 30th International Monetary Fund (IMF) payment and became ineligible for Emergency Liquidity Assistance (ELA) for the first time in over five years. Crude prices largely fell over the trailing six-month period, finishing the month of July at $47.12/barrel West Texas Intermediate (WTI).

(10.79%) generated double-digit gains. The energy (-9.56%) and utilities (-7.75%) sectors exhibited the greatest losses as commodity prices generally declined and fears of an interest rate hike bridled both sectors, respectively.

Several factors influenced the convertible market during the period most notably commodity prices, economic data, corporate earnings, the movement in the US Treasury market and the Fed's outlook.

One of the most significant influential factors was the sharp drop in crude oil and metal prices during July as angst around slowing economic activity in China increased. Steep price declines weighed on producers, pressuring commodity-linked sectors.

On the economic front, improving indicators signaled continued US expansion. The positive trends in data supported the favorable backdrop for convertible securities.

Another factor that influenced the convertible market was corporate earnings. As anticipated, adverse weather conditions, a West Coast port shutdown and a strong dollar dampened profits, but earnings growth was impressive nonetheless.

The equity portion of the Fund delivered positive returns but failed to keep pace with the Russell 1000 Value benchmark index. Negative stock selection and sector allocation drove relative underperformance. In terms of security selection, the Fund's holdings in the energy and financials sectors were the most beneficial. However, these positive results were overwhelmed by negative selection in the information technology, consumer discretionary and health care sectors. From a sector allocation perspective, underweight positions in the utilities and consumer staples sectors boosted the Fund's performance. Conversely, the Fund's overweights in the energy and materials sectors, as well as an underweight in the financials sector detracted from results.

During the six-month reporting period, the equity portion of the Fund's largest overweights relative to the Russell 1000 Value Index were in the telecommunication services, energy and materials sectors. The Fund's largest relative underweights were in the consumer staples, industrials and financials sectors.

In the convertible portion of the portfolio, sector allocations that helped relative performance included financials, industrials and technology. An underweight and issue selection in all three of the above mentioned sectors were beneficial. In contrast, health care, materials and energy exposure weighed on performance. An underweight and issue selection in the health care sector was a detractor. Furthermore, issue selection in materials and an overweight in energy hindered relative returns.

The Fund benefited from gains attributed to option premium retention early in the year. Since many of the portfolio's options positions expired out-of-the money, the fund was able to retain premium collected at initiation. However, the majority of the gains generated from the options portfolio at the beginning of the period were later offset by cash assignments. Two equity market moves proved to be particularly challenging for the options portion of the portfolio during the period. As the S&P 500 climbed nearly 6% in February, several options positions expired in-the-money. The strength of energy sector equities was a hindrance to the options portfolio from mid-March to early May. The oil service index rose more than 22%, resulting in significant cash assignments in excess of the premium originally collected. Ultimately, the options component of the portfolio was unable to contribute meaningful gains for the period.

(1) Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Total return is calculated by determining the percentage change in NAV or market price (as applicable) in the specified period. The calculation assumes that all dividends and distributions, if any, have been reinvested. Total return does not reflect broker commissions or sales charges in connection with the purchase or sale of Fund shares and includes the effect of any expense reductions, if any. Total return for a period of less than one year is not annualized.

Performance at market price will differ from results at NAV. Although market price returns typically reflect investment results over time, during shorter periods returns at market price can also be influenced by factors such as changing views about the Fund, market conditions, supply and demand for the Fund's shares, or changes in the Fund's dividends.

An investment in the Fund involves risk, including the loss of principal. Total return, market price, market price yield and NAV will fluctuate with changes in market conditions. This data is provided for information purposes only and is not intended for trading purposes. Closed-end funds, unlike open-end funds, are not continuously offered. There is a one-time public offering and once issued, shares of closed-end funds are traded in the open market through a stock exchange. NAV is equal to total assets less total liabilities divided by the number of shares outstanding. Holdings are subject to change daily.

(2) Market Price Yield is determined by dividing the annualized current monthly dividend per share (comprised of net investment income and net capital gains, if any) payable to shareholders by the market price per share at July 31, 2015.

(3) Represents amount drawn under short-term margin loan facility (Leverage), as a percentage of total managed assets. Total managed assets refer to total assets (including assets attributable to Leverage) minus liabilities (other than liabilities representing Leverage).
