Petrobras denies share swap with PEPESA

(Rio de Janeiro, February 26, 2004). PETRÓLEO BRASILEIRO S/A - PETROBRAS, [Bovespa: PETR3/PETR4, NYSE: PBR/PBRA, Latibex: XPBR/XPBRA], a Brazilian international energy company, controlling 58.7% of the shares of Petrobras Energia Participaciones S.A. PEPESA announces that repeated rumors, also reported in the press, as to an imminent offer to swap its shares for shares of the mentioned controlled company and trading on the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange, are completely without foundation. Petrobras is not aware of the origin of these rumors, which also circulated during the recent public holiday in Brazil when the markets were closed making any official denial more difficult.

The Company is not involved in any transaction that might lead to the additional acquisition of shares in Petrobras Energia Participaciones S.A. traded on the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange through a public offering via a swap, cash payment or any other means.

Petrobras continues the operational integration of its assets in Argentina, maintaining its corporate independence and respect for the principles of corporate governance that have always guided the Company's actions.

Petrobras wishes to clarify further that it has instructed the management of its controlled company to reply to the Buenos Aires Stock Exchange's inquiry on the matter in the same negative terms.
