On July 7, 2004 the Company's board of directors resolved to approve a private offering of ordinary shares of the Company in a total amount of up to $5,500,000 (the Offered Shares) to be issued to Cornell Capital Partners, LP. (the Offeree) from time to time, as decided by the board of directors, in accordance with the Agreement signed by the Company and the Offeree on June 22, 2004, (the Agreement) and subject to the receipt of the approvals required by law, as detailed in this report.

On July 7, 2004 an Annual General Meeting of Shareholders was announced. The Meeting's agenda includes a proposal to authorize the board of directors to issue, shares to the Offeree, from time to time, in accordance with the terms of the Agreement.

2. The Offeree

The Offeree may become an interested party of the Company since it may hold, after the issuance 5% of the issued capital of the Company. To the best knowledge of the Company, the Offeree has no controlling shareholder.

3. Description of the Offered Shares

The Offered Shares are ordinary shares, par value NIS 0.5, which will have the same rights as the outstanding ordinary shares of the Company, and will be entitled to all dividends and other benefits the record date of which for distribution will be after the date of their issuance.

After their issuance, the Offered Shares will be listed for trading on NASDAQ SmallCAP Market (Nasdaq) and with the Tel-Aviv Stock Exchange Market (TASE) where the Company's ordinary shares are listed, subject to receipt of necessary approvals.

The number of Ordinary Shares to be issued, assuming that the Offered Shares are issued at the Volume Weighted Average Price, as defined in Section 4 below, on July 6, 2004, and assuming that the Company will not issue any additional Ordinary Shares during the Obligation Period, as defined in Section 4 below, will be 5,851,686 shares, representing 34.24% of the voting rights in the Company and of the Company's outstanding shares, and assuming that, in addition, all the Company's outstanding convertible securities are converted and all the outstanding options are exercised (Full Dilution), 31.7% of the voting rights in the Company and of the Company's outstanding shares.

4. The Securities Issuance as Part of a Transaction

The Offered Shares will be issued according to the terms of the Agreement.¹

According to the Agreement, the Offeree undertook to purchase from the Company ordinary shares that will be sold and/or issued to the Offeree by the Company in a total amount of up to $5,500,000 during a period of 24 months commencing on the date the SEC declares a registration statement covering the Offered Shares effective (the Obligation Period).

The Agreement provides that the Offered Shares will be sold and/or issued to the Offeree at the discretion of the Company in accordance with the Company's needs at the relevant times. Nevertheless, no sale or issuance will exceed the amount of $250,000 (hereinafter: a Sale), and the frequency of Sales will not be greater than once a week.

The agreement provides that the Company will be entitled to provide the Offeree, together with a notice of a Sale, a minimum price. Whenever the Company gives such a minimum price, the scope of the Sale for which the minimum price was given will be reduced, relatively, based on the number of days (out of the five trading days after a notice of Sale is given), in which the closing price of the shares will be lower than the minimum price.

The Company did not commit within the framework of the Agreement, to make any Sales at any minimum amount.

The Agreement provides that the Offered Shares will be issued or sold to the Offeree at the lowest Volume Weighted Average Price of the shares (the VWAP) in the five trading days after a notice of Sale is given to the Offeree, as reported by Bloomberg LP.

The Agreement further provides that in consideration of the Offeree's obligations, the Company will pay the Offeree a 5% commission out of the remuneration received by the Company from the Sales, as well as the amounts detailed below:

- 1 $90,000 to be paid after an order of effectiveness is issued by the SEC for the Registration Statement covering the Offered Shares;
- 1 $111,000 to be paid at the earliest of the following: (i) upon receipt of aggregated payments from Sales totaling more than $2,000,000; or (ii) upon the first Sale notice given one year after the beginning of the Obligation Period.

According to the Agreement, the Company may pay the additional amounts in cash or in Ordinary Shares, at the VWAP on the date of the signing of the Agreement.

In addition, it was determined in the Agreement that the Company will pay the escrow company, that manages the execution of the Sales for their services, $10,000 at the beginning of the Obligation Period and an additional $500 for each Sale.

The Agreement provides that the total number of Ordinary Shares to be held by the Offeree as a result of any Sale may not exceed 5% of the then outstanding shares of the Company. The Offeree undertook that in the event that a Sale notice might cause it to hold more than 5% of the Company's ordinary shares, it will sell, before the actual issuance of the shares, such number of Ordinary Shares that will guarantee that its holdings will not exceed 5% of the outstanding shares of the Company.

The Agreement provides that during the Obligation Period, the Company will not issue or sell shares for no payment or for a price lower than the closing price of the shares, last known before the issuance in the main market in which the shares are traded in the United States (the Closing Price), and will not issue or sell convertible securities (with the exception of stock option plans for employees), which grant the holder the right to purchase Ordinary Shares without payment or at a price lower than the Closing Price.

The Company additionally committed to notify the Offeree, at the beginning of each quarter of the amounts that the Company reasonably expects to obtain from Sales to the Offeree during the upcoming quarter. The Agreement indicates that such estimation will not obligate the Company to seek the mentioned amounts or any other amount, and will not in any way limit the Company's rights to make Sales to the Offeree.

The Company agreed to indemnify the Offeree, its employees, directors, partners and agents for any damage caused to them by false representation given by the Company in the Agreement and in the accompanying agreements, by breach of the Agreement and of the accompanying agreements, or in the event of any claim brought against it, that is caused by the execution of the Agreement and which is not caused by any action or omission of the Offeree. The maximum amount of indemnification was limited in the Agreement to the aggregated remuneration that the Company will receive for the Sales.

The Offeree agreed to indemnify the Company, its managers, employees, shareholders and agents for any false representation given by the Offeree in the Agreement and in the accompanying agreements, by breach of the Agreement and in the accompanying agreements, or in the event of any claim brought against them, that is caused by the breach of the Agreement or the accompanying agreements by the Offeree or caused by any action or omission of the Offeree, connected to the Agreement execution. The maximum amount of indemnification was limited in the Agreement to the net aggregate remuneration that the Offeree will receive from the sales of the Offered Shares.

Under this section issued and paid capital excludes: shares which will result from the exercise of securities that were issued before the offering date and were not exercised

13. Board of Directors Reasons for the Approval of the Private Offering

The authorization for the Board of Directors to issue shares to the Offeree will enable the Company to obtain, according to the Company's discretion and its needs at relevant times, at short notice, significant amounts of money, and will create an additional source of funding for the Company's activities. The short notice preceding each sale will reduce the uncertainty of the price at which the sale will be made.
