FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CAMTEK LTD. AND BISTEL INC. HAVE PARTNERED TO LAUNCH A COMPREHENSIVE YIELD MANAGEMENT SOLUTION

MIGDAL HAEMEK, Israel & Seoul, Korea – January 9, 2017 – Camtek Ltd. (NASDAQ: CAMT; TASE: CAMT), and BISTel Inc. today announced a technology partnership. Under the agreement signed by the parties, Camtek will include BISTel's software solutions as part of its Yield Management Solution (YMS) product portfolio. This new integrated yield management solution will include BISTel's advanced data analytic solutions, which will provide a powerful tool to perform data mining, data analysis, and root cause analysis in the semiconductor manufacturing industry. The Company expects to start generating revenues from this software offering already this year.

Ramy Langer, Vice President and Head of Camtek's Semiconductor Division, commented, "We have partnered with BISTel to provide our customers superb yield management solution that meets the semiconductor industry's standards and provides Advanced Data Mining functions that can automatically identify root causes from a huge data set and analyze the results."

Continued Mr. Langer: "We have chosen BISTel's platform that has unique capabilities, such as supporting a huge variety of data sources in the modern production environment for robust cause-and-effect analysis and advanced map analysis for automatic detection, classification, and quantification of systematic patterns of wafer maps and cross processes. We are confident that together with BISTel's products and support we will be able to provide existing and new customers with greater ability to enhance their process control and yield management."

WK Choi, CEO of BISTel, added, "As an established leader in Yield management and Process Control Software in the semiconductor industry, BISTel's advanced data analytic capabilities will perfectly complement Camtek's product offerings to provide customers one of the most comprehensive Yield Management Solutions in the market."
