NetEase.com Announces 2004 Second Quarter Results

Total net revenues for the quarter increased 5.2% over the previous quarter to RMB206.7 million (US$25.0 million), despite a 37.1% drop in net revenues from wireless value-added and other fee-based premium services

Net revenues from online game services for the quarter grew 25.2% over the previous quarter on the strength of the Company's two self-developed titles, Fantasy Westward Journey Online and Westward Journey Online Version 2.0

Net revenues from advertising services for the quarter grew 18.5% over the previous quarter driven by increased demand for advertising space on the NetEase websites

(Beijing August 2, 2004) NetEase.com, Inc. (Nasdaq: NTES), one of China's leading Internet, online game and wireless value-added services providers, today announced financial results for its second quarter ended June 30, 2004.

Financial Results

The Company reported total net revenues of RMB206.7 million (US$25.0 million) for the second quarter, representing a 5.2% increase over total net revenues of RMB196.6 million (US$23.8 million) for the preceding quarter, and a 51.8% increase over total revenues^(Note a) of RMB136.2 million for the corresponding period a year ago.

^(Note a) The Company's total revenues as reported in its financial statements for the quarter ended June 30, 2003 (prior to the adoption of FIN46 and consolidation of the VIEs) is equivalent to the Company's total net revenues as reported in its financial statements for the quarters ended March 31 and June 30, 2004 (after the adoption of FIN46 and consolidation of the VIEs prospectively). Both total revenues in 2003 and total net revenues in 2004 represent gross revenue receivable from final customers net of business tax payable by the VIEs. For details, please refer to Note 3 to the Unaudited Consolidated Statements of Operations included in this press release.

Table of Contents

Net revenues from online game services for the quarter grew by 25.2% quarter-over-quarter to RMB131.8 million (US$15.9 million) driven by the continued growth of NetEase's latest title, Fantasy Westward Journey Online, and the steady performance of Westward Journey Online Version 2.0.

Consistent with the Company's previous guidance announced on July 7, 2004, net revenues from wireless value-added and other fee-based premium services decreased 37.1% quarter-over-quarter to RMB37.6 million (US$4.5 million). As anticipated, the decline was primarily attributable to a fall in sales of SMS services as a result of intense competition and new Chinese regulations and mobile operator policies that led to a slow down in the rate of growth of new users and a higher turnover rate.

Net revenues from advertising services for the quarter increased 18.5% quarter-over-quarter to RMB37.4 million (US$4.5 million) driven by continued increased demand for advertising space on the NetEase websites.

The Company reported gross profit in the second quarter of RMB164.3 million (US$19.8 million), representing a 52.8% increase over RMB107.5 million for the corresponding period a year ago and a 3.7% increase over RMB158.4 million for the preceding quarter. Gross margins for the Company decreased slightly to 79.5% in the second quarter from 80.6% in the preceding quarter due to the decrease in gross margins from wireless value-added and other fee-based premium services. Gross margins for wireless value-added services in the second quarter of 2004 declined as costs remained stable while revenue declined. In contrast, enhanced economies of scale for online games led to record high gross margins for online games this quarter.

Total operating expenses for the quarter were RMB63.6 million (US$7.7 million), representing a 115.1% increase over RMB29.6 million for the corresponding period a year ago, and a 25.9% increase over RMB50.6 million for the preceding quarter. The increase was largely due to expenses incurred in connection with a new marketing campaign being initiated by the Company which is expected to run until the end of 2004. In the second quarter of 2004, these expenses included production costs for TV commercials, as well as billboard and bus advertisement production and placement costs. The Company anticipates that the costs for this campaign will peak in the third quarter of 2004 when the bulk of the new TV commercials will be aired. Operating expenses also increased as a result of professional fees specifically related to the Company's registration of its Zero Coupon Convertible Subordinated Notes due July 15, 2023 with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission.

The Company reported a net profit of RMB98.3 million (US$11.9 million), equivalent to US$0.38 (basic) or US$0.36 (diluted) per American Depositary Share (ADS), compared to a net profit of RMB75.8 million (US$9.2 million), equivalent to US$0.28 diluted net earnings per ADS, for the corresponding period a year ago and a net profit of RMB103.9 million (US$12.6 million), equivalent to US$0.38 diluted net earnings per ADS, for the preceding quarter.

As of June 30, 2004, the Company's total cash and held-to-maturity investments balances were RMB1.7 billion (US$205.6 million) and RMB248.7 million (US$30.1 million), respectively. The Company generated an operating cash flow of RMB117.6 million (US$14.2 million) for the quarter.

Other Company News

The Company also announced today that it has recently entered into a contractual arrangement with Google Inc. to provide enhanced search services as well as to cooperate in online advertising. The new version of NetEase's search engine will employ Google's web page-search function and AdWords cost-per-click search advertising service, which will also be integrated with NetEase's current Open Directory Project (ODP) system.

In addition, the Company announced that it has licensed from a South Korean game developer an online game called Fly for Fun (FlyFF). Voted as an award-winning game by South Korea's Ministry of Culture in June 2004, FlyFF is a 3D game based on a fantasy world which gives players unique flying capabilities. Beta testing for FlyFF is expected to begin within the coming fourth quarter.

Commenting on the second quarter's results, acting Chief Executive Officer Ted Sun said, "We were pleased that our advertising business performed well again this quarter. As a result of our continuous improvement of content and upcoming marketing opportunities like the 2004 Athens Olympic Games, we believe that existing and new clients continue to see the value of promoting on the NetEase websites. Also, we believe that new initiatives such as our partnership with Google which we expect will significantly improve the competitive capability of NetEase's search engine, in combination with other activities such as our recent increase in the capacity of our free e-mail services, will attract new users to our websites, thereby adding further value for our advertisers."

Chief Operating Officer Michael Tong added, "In our online games business, Fantasy Westward Journey Online's popularity continued to increase, which drove revenue growth in this area. We expect future growth for our online games to come from our two current self-developed titles, the pending commercial launch of FlyFF, and two upcoming in-house developed games planned for release in the first half of 2005. We are excited about FlyFF which deploys a 3D flying system which greatly enhances gaming experience. We believe that these flying functionalities, coupled with the real-time combat style of the game, will greatly appeal to our target audience group, which consists of players between the ages of 15 to 25 in coastal provinces."

Mr. Tong continued, "While our wireless value-added and other fee-based premium services business suffered setbacks in the second quarter of 2004, we are focused on turning around the business through a variety of strategic initiatives designed to stabilize and enhance revenues. These initiatives include developing higher-end wireless value-added services and integrating NetEase Web products to differentiate NetEase from competitors, more offline marketing efforts including seeking partnerships with offline media, developing sales teams at the provincial level, and further promotion of our advanced second generation, or 2.5G, services, which experienced high growth rates, albeit from a relatively low base, in the second quarter of 2004."

Denny Lee, NetEase's Chief Financial Officer added, "We believe that our ongoing innovation in all of our businesses continues to bring benefits to the Company. We remain committed to our focus on continually developing diversified revenue streams to create value for our shareholders."

Note 2: On January 17, 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued FASB Interpretation No. 46: Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, an interpretation of ARB 51 (FIN 46), which was subsequently amended by a revised interpretation (FIN 46-R). According to the requirements of FIN 46 and FIN 46-R, the Company has evaluated its relationship with two previously unconsolidated related companies, Guangzhou NetEase Computer System Co., Ltd. (Guangzhou NetEase) and Guangyitong Advertising Co., Ltd. (Guangyitong Advertising), as well as Guangzhou Ling Yi Electronic Technology Limited (Guangzhou Ling Yi). Guangzhou NetEase, Guangyitong Advertising and Guangzhou Ling Yi are concluded as variable interest entities (VIE) of the Company. And the Company is concluded to be the primary beneficiary of these three VIEs. The Company adopted the provisions of FIN 46 and consolidated Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising on a prospective basis from January 1, 2004 and Guangzhou Ling Yi from May 2004. Adoption of FIN 46 did not significantly affect the Company's financial statements.

Note 3: Upon the adoption of FIN 46 and consolidation of Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising, amounts due from/ to these two related parties have been eliminated in the consolidated financial statements of the Company. The major effect of consolidation of these companies on the Company's consolidated financial statements was the recognition of the VIEs' accounts receivable, deferred revenue and tax payable and others, and a corresponding elimination of the due to and due from related parties balances. The net effect on shareholders' equity was nil. The following figures represent the due to and due from related parties balances as of December 31, 2003, and the corresponding balances of accounts receivable, deferred revenue and tax payable and others on the balance sheet of the VIEs as of that date:

Note 2: On January 17, 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued FASB Interpretation No. 46: Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, an interpretation of ARB 51 (FIN 46), which was subsequently amended by a revised interpretation (FIN 46-R). According to the requirements of FIN 46 and FIN 46-R, the Company has evaluated its relationship with two previously unconsolidated related companies, Guangzhou NetEase Computer System Co., Ltd. (Guangzhou NetEase) and Guangyitong Advertising Co., Ltd. (Guangyitong Advertising), as well as Guangzhou Ling Yi Electronic Technology Limited (Guangzhou Ling Yi). Guangzhou NetEase, Guangyitong Advertising and Guangzhou Ling Yi are concluded as variable interest entities (VIEs) of the Company. And the Company is concluded to be the primary beneficiary of these three VIEs. The Company adopted the provisions of FIN 46 and consolidated Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising on a prospective basis from January 1, 2004 and Guangzhou Ling Yi from May 2004. Adoption of FIN 46 did not significantly affect the Company's financial statements.

Note 3: The Company adopted the provisions of FIN 46 and consolidated its VIEs on a prospective basis in the Company's consolidated financial statements. The VIEs effectively function as pass-through entities used by the Company and its subsidiaries in providing services to the final customers. Under the series of agreements entered with the VIEs, substantially all of the revenue of the VIEs, net of the applicable business tax payable by the VIEs, are passed to the Company and its subsidiaries in form of technology and consulting service revenues. Prior to the consolidation of the VIEs in accordance with FIN 46, revenues in the Company's financial statements represented revenues received by the Company and its subsidiaries from Guangzhou NetEase and Guangzhou Advertising, net of applicable business tax payable^(Note i) by these entities. The business tax presented in the Company's financial statements represented business tax payable by the Company and its subsidiaries on their technology and consulting service revenues received from Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising. After the consolidation of the VIEs in accordance with FIN 46, revenues in the Company's financial statements represent revenues generated from the final customers by the VIEs, before deducting any applicable business tax payable by the VIEs which is now presented under a separate line item after revenues. The business tax payable^(Note ii) by the Company and its subsidiaries on intra-group revenues from the VIEs is recorded under cost of revenue as it is considered a cost in providing the services by the consolidated group.

Note i: The business tax payable by Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising, which was netted against revenues in the Company's financial statements for the quarter ended June 30, 2003 which did not consolidate Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising amounted to Rmb7,474,699, segmentally analyzed as below:

Note 2: On January 17, 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued FASB Interpretation No. 46: Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, an interpretation of ARB 51 (FIN 46), which was subsequently amended by a revised interpretation (FIN 46-R). According to the requirements of FIN 46 and FIN 46-R, the Company has evaluated its relationship with two previously unconsolidated related companies Guangzhou NetEase Computer System Co., Ltd. (Guangzhou NetEase) and Guangyitong Advertising Co., Ltd. (Guangyitong Advertising), as well as Guangzhou Ling Yi Electronic Technology Limited (Guangzhou Ling Yi). Guangzhou NetEase, Guangyitong Advertising and Guangzhou Ling Yi are concluded as variable interest entities (VIEs) of the Company. And the Company is concluded to be the primary beneficiary of these three VIEs. The Company adopted the provisions of FIN 46 and consolidated Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising on a prospective basis from January 1, 2004 and Guangzhou Ling Yi from May 2004. Adoption of FIN 46 did not significantly affect the Company's financial statements.

Note 2: On January 17, 2003, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued FASB Interpretation No. 46: Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities, an interpretation of ARB 51 (FIN 46), which was subsequently amended by a revised interpretation (FIN 46-R). According to the requirements of FIN 46 and FIN 46-R, the Company has evaluated its relationship with two previously unconsolidated related companies Guangzhou NetEase Computer System Co., Ltd. (Guangzhou NetEase) and Guangyitong Advertising Co., Ltd. (Guangyitong Advertising), as well as Guangzhou Ling Yi Electronic Technology Limited. (Guangzhou Ling Yi). Guangzhou NetEase, Guangyitong Advertising and Guangzhou Ling Yi are concluded as variable interest entities (VIEs) of the Company. And the Company is concluded to be the primary beneficiary of these three VIEs. The Company adopted the provisions of FIN 46 and consolidated Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising on a prospective basis from January 1, 2004 and Guangzhou Ling Yi from May 2004. Adoption of FIN 46 did not significantly affect the Company's financial statements.

Note 3: The Company adopted the provisions of FIN 46 and consolidated its VIEs on a prospective basis in the Company's consolidated financial statements. The VIEs effectively function as pass-through entities used by the Company and its subsidiaries in providing services to the final customers. Under the series of agreements entered with the VIEs, substantially all of the revenue of the VIEs, net of the applicable business tax payable by the VIEs, are passed to the Company and its subsidiaries in form of technology and consulting service revenues. Prior to the consolidation of the VIEs in accordance with FIN 46, revenues in the Company's financial statements represented revenues received by the Company and its subsidiaries from Guangzhou NetEase and Guangzhou Advertising, net of applicable business tax payable^(Note i) by these entities. The business tax presented in the Company's financial statements represented business tax payable by the Company and its subsidiaries on their technology and consulting service revenues received from Guangzhou NetEase and Guangyitong Advertising. After the consolidation of the VIEs in accordance with FIN 46, revenues in the Company's financial statements represent revenues generated from the final customers by the VIEs, before deducting any applicable business tax payable by the VIEs which is now presented under a separate line item after revenues. The business tax payable^(Note ii) by the Company and its subsidiaries on intra-group revenues from the VIEs is recorded under cost of revenue as it is considered a cost in providing the services by the consolidated group.
