Filings and Approvals Progress

Progress continues with the NU/NSTAR merger, and both companies remain excited and optimistic about the merger closing in the second half of this year.

MDPU Hearings Set To Start in July

The Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities (MDPU) will begin evidentiary hearings on July 6, which are designed to address all aspects of the merger, including the new net benefits standard of review adopted by the MDPU in April.

You'll read more in this Merger Update newsletter about the upcoming MDPU hearings and the latest with Town Meetings.

Post-close officers Jim Judge and David McHale will serve as joint witnesses in the proceeding. Their role will be to provide the MDPU with key information it has requested, giving context to the scope of the NU/NSTAR merger proposal and its many benefits for employees, shareholders, the environment, and the communities and customers we serve.

Jim and David's testimony will reflect information contained in the companies' pre-filed testimony, as well as responses to over 1,000 data requests, which were submitted to the companies by the staff of the MDPU, the Massachusetts Attorney General and various intervenors.

Merger Town Meetings Moved to Late Summer

As announced in the last edition of Merger Update, employees will have the opportunity to attend face-to-face briefings on merger-related happenings in the coming months. Originally slated to begin in early summer, these "Arriving at Day One" Town Meetings will be rescheduled for late summer. This change ensures employees will receive the latest information after the MDPU hearings, as well as get to know the post-close officers. Dates, times and locations will be published in NU's and NSTAR's employee publications, so keep an eye out for details.

The MDPU has scheduled nine days of hearings, which will likely finish in late July. After the hearings, all participants will have a window of time to file legal briefs for the MDPU to consider. We anticipate the MDPU will issue a final decision in the weeks following submission of all briefs, at which time the merger process will move forward pending receipt of remaining regulatory approvals. We remain confident that we will receive all required approvals and complete the merger later this year.
