This document should be read in conjunction with, and is qualified in its entirety by, the information appearing in the Confidential Private Offering Memorandum (and a Limited Partnership Agreement for domestic partnerships), which should be carefully reviewed prior to investing. Certain statements included herein may constitute forward-looking statements, including, but not limited to, those identified by the expressions "expect", "intend", "will" and similar expressions. Paulson & Co undertakes no obligation to update publicly or otherwise revise any forward-looking statement or information whether as a result of new information, future events or other such factors which affect this information, except as required by law. An investment in a hedge fund is speculative and involves a high degree of risk, which each investor must carefully consider. An investor in hedge funds could lose all or a substantial amount of his or her investment. Returns generated from an investment in a hedge fund may not adequately compensate investors for the business and financial risks assumed. While hedge funds are subject to market risks common to other types of investments, including market volatility, hedge funds employ certain trading techniques, such as the use of leverage and other speculative investment practices that may increase the risk of investment loss. Products may involve above average risk. Risks associated with hedge fund investments include, but are not limited to, the fact that hedge funds can be highly illiquid; they are not required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors; they may involve complex tax structures and delays in distributing important tax information; they are not subject to the same regulatory requirements as mutual funds; they often charge higher fees and the high fees may offset the funds' trading profits; they may have a limited operating history; they can have performance that is volatile; they may have a fund manager who has total trading authority over the fund and the use of a single adviser applying generally similar trading programs could mean a lack of diversification, and consequentially, higher risk; they may not have a secondary market for an investor's interest in the fund and none may be expected to develop; they may have restrictions on transferring interests in the fund; and may effect a substantial portion of their trades on foreign exchanges.

VALUE MAXIMIZATION

The most important single value creating option is to split P&C from Life Additional value can be created by optimizing its balance sheet to pay down debt, divesting high value businesses like mutual funds, and cutting costs and freeing capital through a VA runoff.

By successfully pursuing these actions, Hartford can achieve a peer level multiple

THE OBJECTIVE IN ALL THESE SPIN-OFFS IS THE SAME, TO OPTIMIZE RETURNS TO SHAREHOLDERS

Ralcorp s
100%
Tax-Free
Spinoff
of

Post

Foods

We firmly believe the separation of Post Foods from Ralcorp by way of a tax-free spin-off will unlock significant value for our shareholders.

As independent companies, both Ralcorp and Post Foods will be better positioned to focus on strategies

specific

to

their

particular

businesses,

thereby

improving

the

opportunities

to

deliver

increasing shareholder value.

Kraft's

Spinoff

The

company

believes

creating

two

public

companies

would

offer

a

number

opportunities:

Each business would focus on its distinct strategic priorities, with financial targets that best fit its own markets and unique opportunities.

Each

be

able

to

capital
in
manner
consistent
with
its
strategic priorities in order to optimize total returns to shareholders.

Investors would be able to value the two companies based on their particular operational and financial characteristics and thus invest accordingly.

ANALYSTS VIEW A P&C SPINOFF AS VALUE ACCRETIVE

There is no guarantee that these securities will be held in the funds in the future. This material may not be distributed to other investors. Unauthorized reproduction or distribution of all or any of this material is strictly prohibited.

We believe there is a strong opportunity for management to unlock shareholder value by reevaluating the multi-line strategy, placing annuities into run-off, and selling off its remaining life insurance operations. If executed, we see a potential fair value in the range of $26-27, roughly 50% above the stock's level.

-Nigel Dally-Morgan Stanley, 1 Feb 2012

We believe HIG's P&C and life companies are worth more separately than together. If HIG's valuation remains depressed, we expect HIG to reach a similar verdict over time, resulting in a potential spin-off of its P&C business. [price target $28.32, 73% above the market price]

Chris Giovanni-Goldman Sachs, 9 Jan 2012

We believe there remains 70% upside to Hartford's valuation on a sum of the parts ($34.24), and if the company is willing to split the businesses or consider strategic alternatives, this value could be unlocked.

In our view, the P&C operations alone are worth the current market cap ($8.4bn, $19/share)...the Life franchises are worth an additional $6.7bn or $15/share...based on its peers multiples. In a bidding process each individual unit could achieve a premium to the peer valuation.
