Trian Fund Management, L.P. (“Trian”) placed the following advertisement in a Wilmington, Delaware newspaper on April 12, 2015 and may from time to time place such advertisement in additional publications:

WHY DID DUPONT CEO
ELLEN KULLMAN SELL
$80 MILLION WORTH
OF DUPONT SHARES?

Since Trian first invested in DuPont in March 2013, DuPont’s CEO Ellen Kullman has sold over half of her equity position, or approximately $80 million worth of shares, all at prices of $72
or less.<sup>1</sup> Her sales were from long-term incentives or stock options she had been granted, some of which did not expire until 2017.

Why would DuPont’s CEO sell so much stock if she believed the price would continue to increase? In our view, the only logical explanation is that she lacks confidence that DuPont shares will be worth more than $72 in 2017. The Board’s lack of oversight of these sales and its own minimal ownership of DuPont shares is just as disturbing. Trian believes executives are awarded long-term incentives to ensure an alignment of interests with stockholders. The intention is not for management to sell prematurely.

In contrast to the CEO and Board's apparent view on value, Trian believes DuPont's implied target value per share could be in excess of $120 by the end of 2017, as outlined in our open letter to the DuPont Board.<sup>2</sup>

With our nominees working for all DuPont stockholders in the boardroom, Trian believes DuPont can be GREAT again.

<sup>1</sup> Source: Form 4 filings of E.I. du Pont de Nemours and Company ("DuPont"). The $80 million estimate reflects the gross amount of stock sold by Ellen Kullman for reasons other than payment of taxes since funds managed by Trian Fund Management, L.P. ("Trian") first invested in DuPont. The estimate is based on the average dollar amount specified in the applicable Form 4 multiplied by the number of shares sold. According to Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") filings, most of the sales by Ellen Kullman were made pursuant to Rule 10b5-1 trading plans. While Rule 10b5-1 trading plans provide for automatic purchases or sales in amounts, for prices and/or on dates determined by formulas or similar methods, these plans generally may be terminated or amended prior to their predetermined end.
