PREFERRED INCOME FUND INCORPORATED

Dear Shareholder:

The Preferred Income Fund turned in a banner quarter despite an extremely difficult market for fixed income securities. The Fund earned 2.4% on net asset value ("NAV") during its third fiscal quarter. For the first three fiscal quarters of 2003, the return on NAV was a remarkable 22.1%.

The extraordinary jump in intermediate and long-term interest rates during the quarter provided a textbook case for why we hedge against a substantial rise in interest rates. The yields on 10-year and 30-year U.S. Treasuries rose 1.10% and 0.86%, respectively, during the period. An investor in these securities would have suffered total return LOSSES of 7.8% on the 10-year and 10.9% on the 30-year.

Given the magnitude of the weakness in the fixed-income markets, it is no surprise that the performance of the market price for the Fund's shares lagged the performance of the NAV. For the quarter, the return on market was -4.5%. Since the beginning of the fiscal year, the market return was a much more impressive +10.7%.

This was clearly one of the worst three months the bond market has ever experienced, and without the Fund's hedging strategy the results would have been much worse. In some ways, hedging is a lot like buying an insurance policy - you pay a premium, but don't expect to collect very often. When you need it, however, you are awfully glad you have it! During the past quarter we certainly needed the hedge; WITHOUT IT, THE RETURN ON NAV WOULD HAVE BEEN 4.8 PERCENTAGE POINTS LOWER.

Interest in preferred securities remains high, but on balance there has not been a lot of new supply. As you would expect, these conditions have resulted in the yields on preferreds narrowing versus the yields on Treasury notes and bonds. Despite this, when compared to historical relationships, preferred securities still appear attractively priced at present.

We are always on the lookout for the best values within the preferred securities market. For some period of time now, we have determined that traditional preferred stock (the type which pays dividends that may be taxed at lower rates for corporations and individuals) should comprise a larger portion of the Fund's investment portfolio. Of course, in the future, fully taxable hybrid preferred securities may become more attractive and make up a bigger part of the portfolio.

A lot of investors have inquired about the percentage of the Fund's distributions which are dividends (as opposed to interest). Because of the way the tax rules work, that number cannot be calculated until the end of the fiscal year. We have added a section on the Fund's web site, www.preferredincome.com, which shows the breakdown between dividends, income and capital gains from prior years.

We strongly encourage shareholders to participate in the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan ("DRIP"). It provides a steady, reliable approach to building wealth.

Sincerely,

/S/ Donald F. Crumrine

/S/ Robert M. Ettinger
