BUSINESS SALES FORCE LETTER

FINAL

<DATE>

Dear Customer:

Yesterday (or appropriate day), AT&T announced an agreement to acquire BellSouth, bringing together two industry leaders with highly complementary strengths, outstanding networks, advanced services and a strong commitment to customer service.

But this isn't about our business—it's about yours. And how together, AT&T and BellSouth can provide companies like yours with more sophisticated local, national and global communications solutions, customized and managed to your specifications.

Together, the new AT&T will be a more effective and cost-efficient competitor for large business and government customers based in BellSouth's region, as well as throughout the country and world, by combining BellSouth's local assets with AT&T's state-of-the-art national and global networks and services.

Business customers in the southeastern United States and the rest of the country stand to benefit from the expertise and innovation of AT&T Labs, and also from combining AT&T's state-of-the-art national and international networks and advanced services with BellSouth's local exchange and broadband distribution platforms and expertise.

The merger also would give business and government customers, including military and national security agencies, a reliable U.S. based provider of integrated, secure, high-quality and competitively priced services to meet their needs anywhere in the world.

We value your business and will continue to work hard everyday to meet your needs. We expect the transaction to receive final approval by this time next year.

Your sales and service contacts remain the same, as does our commitment to providing you with outstanding service.

Regards,
