PROLOGIS

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED CONDENSED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

March 31, 2005 and 2004

(Unaudited)

1. General:

Business

ProLogis (collectively with its consolidated subsidiaries and partnerships ProLogis ) is a publicly held real estate investment trust ( REIT ) that owns, operates and develops (directly or through unconsolidated investees) industrial distribution properties in North America, Europe and Asia. ProLogis has elected to be taxed as a REIT under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code ).

ProLogis business consists of two reportable business segments: property operations and the corporate distribution facilities services business ( CDFS business ). The property operations segment represents the long-term ownership, management and leasing of industrial distribution properties. The CDFS business segment primarily encompasses ProLogis development of industrial distribution properties that are either contributed to an unconsolidated property fund in which ProLogis has an ownership interest and acts as manager, or sold to third parties. Additionally, ProLogis will acquire industrial distribution properties that are generally rehabilitated and/or repositioned in the CDFS business segment prior to being contributed to a property fund. See Note 11.

Basis of Presentation

ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements are prepared in accordance with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ( GAAP ). ProLogis and its subsidiaries are included in the accompanying Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements and are presented in ProLogis functional currency, the U.S. dollar. All entities that ProLogis controls, either through ownership of a majority voting interest or otherwise, or entities in which ProLogis is the primary beneficiary, are consolidated. All material intercompany transactions with consolidated entities have been eliminated.

The Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements of ProLogis as of March 31, 2005 and for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004 are unaudited and, pursuant to the rules of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC ), certain information and footnote disclosures normally included in financial statements have been omitted. Management of ProLogis believes that the disclosures presented in these financial statements are adequate. However, these interim Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements should be read in conjunction with ProLogis December 31, 2004 audited Consolidated Financial Statements contained in ProLogis 2004 Annual Report on Form 10-K/A#1.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Although these estimates and assumptions are based on current expectations, actual results could differ from those estimates and assumptions.

Certain amounts included in ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements for the prior period have been reclassified to conform to the 2005 financial statement presentation.

2. Keystone Transaction:

On May 3, 2004, ProLogis and affiliates of four investment funds managed by Eaton Vance Management (the Fund Affiliates ) established five property funds (the Acquiring Property Funds and also referred to by ProLogis as ProLogis North American Properties Funds VI, VII, VIII, IX and X-see Note 5). ProLogis has a 20% ownership interest in each of the Acquiring Property Funds with the remainder owned by the Fund Affiliates. Also on May 3, 2004, ProLogis and the Acquiring Property Funds entered into an agreement to acquire the outstanding equity of

Table of Contents

Keystone Property Trust ( Keystone ), a publicly traded REIT, and the operating units of Keystone Operating Partnership, L.P., a subsidiary of Keystone. Keystone owned and leased industrial distribution properties located in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Florida, South Carolina and Ohio. The acquisition of Keystone by ProLogis and the Acquiring Property Funds was approved by Keystone s shareholders on July 30, 2004 and was closed on August 4, 2004.

3. Relocation:

ProLogis has relocated its information technology and corporate accounting functions from El Paso, Texas to Denver, Colorado and is moving its Denver corporate headquarters. The relocation from El Paso was completed in the first quarter of 2005. The relocation to the new corporate headquarters, which is located in Denver and is currently under development, is expected to be completed by the end of 2005.

For the three months ended March 31, 2005, ProLogis recognized total relocation expenses of $2.8 million, including $0.6 million of employee termination benefits, $0.5 million of accelerated depreciation associated with non-real estate assets whose useful life has been shortened due to the relocation plans and $1.7 million of costs associated with the hiring and training of new personnel and other costs, including travel and temporary facility costs. ProLogis began the relocation process in the second quarter of 2004.

4. Real Estate:Real Estate Assets*

Real estate assets directly owned by ProLogis primarily consist of income producing industrial distribution properties, industrial distribution properties under development and land held for future development of industrial distribution properties. ProLogis real estate assets, presented at cost, include the following as of the dates indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	March 31, 2005	December 31, 2004
Operating properties(1):
Improved land	$ 809,884	$ 816,943

Less accumulated depreciation	1,024,735	989,221
Net real estate assets	$ 5,585,802	$ 5,344,510

- (1) At March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004, ProLogis had 1,220 and 1,228 operating properties, respectively. These properties consisted of 131.7 million square feet at March 31, 2005 and 133.6 million square feet at December 31, 2004.

- (2) Properties under development consisted of 77 properties aggregating 21.7 million square feet at March 31, 2005 and 58 properties aggregating 15.1 million square feet at December 31, 2004.
- (3) In addition to the construction costs payable balance of $71.4 million, ProLogis had aggregate unfunded commitments on its contracts for properties under development of $876.9 million at March 31, 2005.
- (4) Land held for future development consisted of 3,355 acres at March 31, 2005 and 2,991 acres at December 31, 2004.
- (5) Other investments primarily include: (i) restricted funds that are held in escrow pending the completion of tax-deferred exchange transactions involving operating properties ($40.2 million at March 31, 2005 and zero at December 31, 2004); (ii) earnest money deposits associated with potential acquisitions; (iii) costs incurred during the pre-acquisition due diligence process; and (iv) costs incurred during the pre-construction phase related to future development projects.

ProLogis directly owns real estate assets in North America (United States, Mexico and Canada), Europe (France, United Kingdom, Poland, Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Spain, Czech Republic, Sweden, Hungary and Belgium) and Asia (Japan, China and Singapore). No individual market in any country, as defined by ProLogis and presented in Item 2 of ProLogis 2004 Annual Report on Form 10-K/A #1, represents more than 10% of ProLogis total real estate assets, before depreciation.

In conjunction with ProLogis development activities, during the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, ProLogis capitalized interest of $12.4 million and $7.4 million, respectively.

Operating Lease Agreements

ProLogis leases its operating properties to customers under agreements that are generally classified as operating leases. At March 31, 2005, minimum lease payments, excluding expense recoveries from customers, on leases with lease periods greater than one year for space in ProLogis directly owned properties for the remainder of 2005 and the other years in the five-year period ending December 31, 2009 and thereafter are as follows (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

Remainder of 2005	$ 286,680
2006	313,344
2007	243,318
2008	181,411
2009	121,035
2010 and thereafter	224,265
	$ 1,370,053

For ProLogis directly owned properties, the largest customer and the 25 largest customers accounted for 1.25% and 16.01%, respectively, of ProLogis annualized collected base rents at March 31, 2005.

5. Unconsolidated Investees:Summary of Investments and Income*

Since 1997, ProLogis has invested in various entities in which its ownership interest is less than 100% and in which it does not have control as defined under GAAP. Accordingly, these investments are presented under the equity method in ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements. Certain of these investments were originally structured such that ProLogis ownership interest would allow ProLogis to continue to comply with the requirements of the Code to qualify as a REIT. However, with respect to ProLogis investments in property funds, having an ownership interest of 50% or less is part of ProLogis business strategy.

ProLogis investments in and advances to entities that are accounted for under the equity method are summarized by type of investee as follows as of the dates indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

March 31, 2005	December 31, 2004
---------------------------	----------------------------------

Property funds	$ 854,603	$ 839,675
CDFS Joint Ventures	71,253	40,487
Other investees	27,470	28,351
Totals	$ 953,326	$ 908,513

ProLogis recognizes income or losses from its investments in unconsolidated investees consisting of its proportionate share of the earnings or losses of these investees and interest income on advances made to these investees, if any. Further, ProLogis earns fees for providing services to the property funds. The amounts recognized by ProLogis from its investments in unconsolidated investees are summarized as follows for the periods indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

Table of Contents

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2005	2004

Other investees	41	300
Totals	$ 12,269	$ 9,837
Fees earned:
Property funds	$ 16,527	$ 11,267

Property Funds

Contributions of developed properties to a property fund allow ProLogis to realize, for financial reporting purposes, a portion of the profits from its development activities while at the same time allowing ProLogis to maintain a long-term ownership interest in its developed properties. This business strategy also provides liquidity to fund ProLogis future development activities and generates fee income to ProLogis. ProLogis has investments in 15 property funds with ownership interests in these property funds ranging from 11.4% to 50% at March 31, 2005. The property funds own operating properties that have generally been contributed to them by ProLogis, although certain property funds have also acquired properties from third parties and in the case of ProLogis North American Property Funds VI through X, the funds also acquired assets in the Keystone Transaction. ProLogis receives ownership interests in the property funds as part of the proceeds of contributions of properties to the property funds. ProLogis recognizes its proportionate share of the earnings or losses of each property fund. ProLogis earns fees for acting as the manager of each of the property funds and manager of the fund properties, and may earn additional fees by providing other services to certain of the property funds including, but not limited to, acquisition, development and leasing activities performed on their behalf.

ProLogis investments in the 15 property funds, presented under the equity method, were as follows as of the dates indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	March 31, 2005	December 31, 2004

Ownership interests of the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund at March 31, 2005 are held directly or indirectly by ProLogis, Macquarie ProLogis Trust ( MPR ), a listed property trust in Australia and Macquarie Bank Limited ( Macquarie Bank );

MPR 's effective ownership interest in the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund was 85.9% at March 31, 2005 through its 96.3% weighted ownership interest in two entities that collectively owned 89.2% of the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund. MPR 's effective ownership interest in the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund was 83.1% at March 31, 2004;

ProLogis ' effective ownership interest in the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund was 11.4% at March 31, 2005 based on its 10.8% direct ownership interest in the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund and its 0.7% ownership interest in two entities that collectively own 89.2% of the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund. ProLogis ' effective ownership interest in the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund was 14.0% at March 31, 2004;

Macquarie Bank 's effective ownership interest in the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund was 2.7% at March 31, 2005 based on its 3.0% ownership interest in two entities that collectively own 89.2% of the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund. Macquarie Bank 's effective ownership interest was 2.9% at March 31, 2004;

ProLogis and a United States subsidiary of Macquarie Bank each have a 50% ownership interest in a company that was formed to act as manager of the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund;

ProLogis refers to the combined entities in which it has ownership interests (ProLogis-Macquarie Fund and the management company) as one property fund named ProLogis North American Properties Fund V. ProLogis ' combined ownership interest in this property fund has ranged from 11.4% to 16.9% since the property fund 's inception;

ProLogis reduced its ownership interest in the ProLogis-Macquarie Fund in June 2004 by exchanging a portion of its investment into units of MPR as allowed under certain formation agreements. Upon receipt of the units of MPR, ProLogis sold them in the public market. The sale generated net proceeds of $13.2 million. ProLogis recognized a net gain on the disposition of the investment of $3.3 million;

Owned 128 properties aggregating 31.0 million square feet at March 31, 2005 (including nine properties aggregating 2.7 million square feet that have been contributed by ProLogis during 2005);

All but seven of the properties owned were contributed by ProLogis;

Table of Contents

Properties are located in 24 markets in the United States and four markets in Mexico;

At March 31, 2005, ProLogis had guaranteed $105.4 million of borrowings of ProLogis North American Properties Fund V. ProLogis provided this guarantee on short-term borrowings of the property fund associated with the acquisition of properties from ProLogis. The borrowings that are guaranteed mature in July 2005. On May 5, 2005, ProLogis North American Properties Fund V entered into an interest rate lock agreement for a secured loan of $150 million. ProLogis expects that the proceeds of this secured debt financing, which will not be guaranteed by ProLogis and is subject to customary due diligence, will be used to repay these borrowings.

ProLogis North American Properties Fund V has the right of first offer to all of ProLogis stabilized development properties that ProLogis desires to sell in North America through the end of 2005. Properties subject to the right of first offer must meet certain specified criteria, including leasing criteria. ProLogis cannot predict the extent to which ProLogis North American Properties Fund V will have funds available to continue to acquire properties from ProLogis during 2005. Should ProLogis North American Properties Fund V choose not to acquire, or not have sufficient capital available to acquire, a property that meets the specified criteria, its rights under the agreement will terminate; and

Fees recognized by ProLogis were (in millions of U.S. dollars):

Properties are located in three markets in Japan;

ProLogis is committed to offer to contribute all of the properties that it develops and stabilizes in Japan through June 2006 to ProLogis Japan Properties Fund, subject to the property meeting certain leasing and other criteria; and Property management and asset management fees recognized by ProLogis were $1.0 million and $0.6 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

(12) Under GAAP, a portion of the proceeds resulting from ProLogis contribution of a property to a property fund is deferred due to ProLogis continuing ownership in the property fund that acquires the property. The amount of the proceeds that ProLogis defers in computing the gain on the contribution is recorded as a reduction to ProLogis investment in the property fund that acquires the property. The proceeds that have not been recognized are recognized as ProLogis adjusts its proportionate share of the earnings or loss of the property fund, recognized under the equity method, to reflect lower depreciation expense within the property fund. The lower depreciation expense is the result of ProLogis reduced investment in the property fund and, accordingly, its lower basis in the contributed property. The proceeds not already recognized through these adjustments to earnings are recognized in results of operations by ProLogis if the property fund disposes of a property to a third party that was originally contributed to the property fund by ProLogis, in addition to ProLogis proportionate share of the net gain or loss recognized by the property fund. ProLogis also recognizes gains associated with the previously deferred proceeds in amounts proportionate to reductions in its ownership interest in the property fund after the contribution is made. If a loss results when a property is contributed to a property fund, the entire loss is recognized.

Includes costs associated with ProLogis investment in the property fund, ProLogis proportionate share of the accumulated other comprehensive income or loss recognized by ProLogis European Properties Fund (cumulative translation adjustments and hedge accounting adjustments) and ProLogis Japan Properties Fund (cumulative translation adjustments) and settlement amounts either paid or received associated with the interest rate swap agreements and a related indemnification agreement between ProLogis and ProLogis North American Properties Funds VI through X.

ProLogis, from time to time, enters into Special Limited Contribution Agreements ( SLCA ) in connection with certain of its contributions of properties to certain of its property funds. Under the SLCAs, ProLogis is obligated to make an additional capital contribution to the respective property fund under certain circumstances, the occurrence of which ProLogis believes to be remote. Specifically, ProLogis would be required to make an additional capital contribution to the property fund if the property fund's third-party lender, whose loans to the property fund are generally secured by the property fund's assets and are non-recourse, does not receive a specified minimum level of debt repayment. However, the proceeds received by the third-party lender from the exhaustion of all of the assets of the property fund combined with the debt repayments received directly from the property fund will reduce ProLogis obligations under the SLCA on a dollar-for-dollar basis. ProLogis' potential obligations under the respective SLCAs, as a percentage of the undepreciated book value of the assets in the property funds, range from 2% to 28%. Accordingly, the value of the assets of the respective property funds would have to decline by between 98% and 72% from the book value before ProLogis would be required to make an additional capital contribution. ProLogis believes that the likelihood of declines in the values of the assets that support the third-party loans of the magnitude necessary to require an additional capital contribution is remote, especially in light of the geographically diversified portfolios of properties owned by the property funds. Accordingly, these potential obligations have not been recognized as a liability by ProLogis at March 31, 2005 and ProLogis has assessed a nominal value to the obligation undertaken through the SLCAs. The potential obligations under the SLCAs aggregate $404.8 million at March 31, 2005 and the combined book value of the assets in the property funds, before depreciation, that are subject to the provisions of the SLCAs was approximately $6.8 billion at March 31, 2005.

In August 2003, ProLogis entered into an indemnification agreement with ProLogis European Properties Fund whereby ProLogis indemnifies ProLogis European Properties Fund for certain future capital gains tax liabilities that could be incurred by ProLogis European Properties Fund associated with contributions of properties to ProLogis European Properties Fund after March 31, 2003. ProLogis' contributions to ProLogis European Properties Fund are structured as contributions of the shares of companies that own the real estate assets. Accordingly, the capital gains tax liability associated with the step up in the value, if any, of the underlying real estate assets is deferred and transferred to ProLogis European Properties Fund at contribution. ProLogis has indemnified ProLogis European Properties Fund to the extent that ProLogis European Properties Fund: (i) incurs capital gains tax as a result of a direct sale of the real estate asset, as opposed to a transaction in which the shares of the company owning the real estate asset are transferred or sold or (ii) is required to grant a discount to the buyer of shares under a share transfer transaction as a result of ProLogis European Properties Fund transferring the embedded capital gain tax liability to the buyer of the shares in the transaction. Further, if an initial public offering of units in ProLogis European Properties Fund is undertaken, ProLogis has indemnified the unit holders of ProLogis European Properties Fund in the event the unit holders are required to accept a discount to the value of their units because the capital gain tax liability is being transferred to the holders of units in the new public entity. The agreement limits the amount that is subject to ProLogis indemnification with respect to each property to 100% of the actual capital gains tax liability that is deferred and transferred by ProLogis to ProLogis European Properties Fund at the time of the initial contribution. Pursuant to the indemnification agreement, ProLogis has recognized a deferred income tax liability of $16.3 million associated with the contributions of 51 properties to ProLogis European Properties Fund during the period from April 1, 2003 through March 31, 2005.

In June 2004, ProLogis entered into an indemnification agreement with ProLogis North American Properties Fund V whereby ProLogis indemnifies ProLogis North American Properties Fund V for certain future capital gains tax liabilities that could be incurred by ProLogis North American Properties Fund V associated with the contribution of assets located in Mexico. ProLogis' contributions of properties located in Mexico to ProLogis North American Properties Fund V are structured as contributions of the shares of companies that own the real estate assets. Accordingly, the capital gains tax liability in Mexico associated with the step up in the value, if any, of the underlying real estate assets is deferred and transferred to ProLogis North American Properties Fund V at contribution. ProLogis has indemnified ProLogis North American Properties Fund V to the extent that ProLogis North American Properties

Fund V incurs capital gains tax in Mexico as a result of a sale of the real estate asset or an interest in the real estate asset. The agreement limits the amount that is subject to ProLogis' indemnification with respect to each property located in Mexico to the lesser of (i) the actual capital gains tax paid in Mexico upon the sale of the real estate assets or (ii) 100% of the capital gains tax liability in Mexico that is deferred and transferred by ProLogis to ProLogis North American Properties Fund V at the time of the initial contribution. Pursuant to the indemnification agreement, ProLogis has recognized a deferred income tax liability of $4.4 million associated with

ProLogis North American Properties Funds VI through X began operations on June 30, 2004 and acquired additional properties on August 4, 2004 with the closing of the Keystone Transaction.

- (2) ProLogis acquired its interests in ProLogis North American Properties Funds XI and XII on August 4, 2004 as part of the Keystone Transaction.
- (3) ProLogis recognizes its proportionate shares of the earnings or losses of the property funds, fees that it earns from services it provides to the property funds and interest income on advances made to the property funds, if any, in its Consolidated Condensed Statements of Earnings and Comprehensive Income under the equity method. The earnings of the property funds include interest expense on amounts due to ProLogis, if any. The earnings of ProLogis European Properties Fund include a net foreign currency exchange gain of $1.3 million.
- (4) Represents the actual ownership interest at March 31, 2005 for each property fund and the weighted average of the ownership interests in all property funds at March 31, 2005 based on each entity's contribution to total assets, before depreciation, net of other liabilities.

Other Investees

At March 31, 2005, ProLogis had investments in six entities that perform some of ProLogis' CDFS business activities (the CDFS Joint Ventures) and certain other companies that are not included in one of ProLogis' two reportable business segments.

Table of Contents

ProLogis investments in these companies were as follows as of the dates indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	March 31, 2005	December 31, 2004

- (1) Represents investments in two entities that were acquired as part of the Keystone Transaction. ProLogis has a 50% ownership interest in each entity (one entity owns a recently developed operating property with 0.8 million square feet in Indianapolis and one entity has a 0.8 million square foot property under development in Indianapolis).
- (2) ProLogis has active investments in two joint ventures and an investment in one joint venture in which ProLogis has discontinued its participation. ProLogis ownership interest in each active joint venture is 50%. On a combined basis at March 31, 2005, the two joint ventures in which ProLogis actively participates owned land for future development aggregating 24 acres and controlled land positions aggregating 365 acres.
- (3) ProLogis has a 50% ownership interest in a joint venture that was formed in July 2004. This joint venture's activities include both the acquisition of properties that will be rehabilitated and/or repositioned as well as development of properties. As of March 31, 2005, this venture owned 16 operating properties aggregating 1.6 million square feet and had six properties under development aggregating 0.9 million square feet.
- (4) Represents an investment in a distribution company operating in Austria, which owned one building as of March 31, 2005.
- (5) ProLogis directly acquired a preferred equity interest in a real estate company as part of the Keystone Transaction.

6. Discontinued Operations:

Discontinued operations represent a component of an entity that has either been disposed of or is classified as held for sale if both the operations and cash flows of the component have been or will be eliminated from ongoing operations of the entity as a result of the disposal transaction and the entity will not have any significant continuing involvement in the operations of the component after the disposal transaction. The assets and liabilities of the component of the entity that has been classified as discontinued operations are presented separately in the balance sheet and the results of operations of the component of the entity that has been classified as discontinued operations are reported as discontinued operations in the statement of earnings.

Assets Held For Sale

The net assets of ProLogis temperature-controlled distribution operations in France that are classified as held for sale consisted of the following at March 31, 2005 (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

Table of Contents

Assets:
Property, plant and equipment, net of accumulated depreciation and amortization	$ 42,329
Cash	33,646
Accounts receivable	19,745
Other assets	7,024
 Total assets	 102,744
Liabilities:
Third party debt	174
Accounts payable	18,680
Deferred income tax liability	13,120
Other liabilities	30,875
 Total liabilities	 62,849
 Net assets	 $ 39,895

These operations in France that are classified as held for sale generated a net loss of $11.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005. This loss includes an impairment charge of $13.1 million that was recognized to reflect the carrying value of these assets at their estimated fair value less costs to sell, based on a binding offer received during 2005.

Assets Disposed Of

Properties disposed of to third parties are considered to be discontinued operations unless ProLogis developed such properties under a pre-sale agreement. Properties that ProLogis contributes to property funds in which ProLogis maintains an ownership interest and acts as manager are not considered to be discontinued operations due to ProLogis continuing involvement with the properties.

During the period prior to the contribution or sale but after the completion of CDFS business activities (development, rehabilitation or repositioning), ProLogis includes CDFS business assets in its operating portfolio and as a part of the property operations segment. These assets do not generally meet the criteria to be classified as held for sale or as discontinued operations. See Note 11.

ProLogis disposed of five properties during the three months ended March 31, 2005 that met the criteria to be presented as discontinued operations, and recognized net gains of $1.8 million associated with these dispositions. Of the five properties disposed of during 2005, one property was a CDFS business asset. This property generated an aggregate net loss of $0.4 million from aggregate net disposition proceeds of $2.9 million. The remaining four properties disposed of in 2005 were held and used in ProLogis property operations segment. The dispositions of these properties generated an aggregate net gain of $2.2 million from aggregate net disposition proceeds of $6.9 million. In addition, ProLogis disposed of 20 properties (ten of which were CDFS business assets) during 2004.

The operating amounts attributable to the properties disposed of in either 2005 or 2004, that are presented as discontinued operations (other than the amounts recognized upon disposition) are as follows for the periods indicated, (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2005	2004
Rental income	$ 226	$ 1,058
Rental expenses	(156)	(362)
Depreciation and amortization	(76)	(416)
Operating income (loss)	$ (6)	$ 280

Table of Contents*7. Shareholders Equity:Common Shares*

ProLogis had 186,410,059 and 185,788,783 of ProLogis common shares of beneficial interest, par value $0.01 per share ( Common Shares ) outstanding at March 31, 2005 and December 31, 2004, respectively.

ProLogis sold or issued Common Shares under certain Common Share plans, including share-based compensation plans during the three months ended March 31, 2005, as follows:

1999 Dividend Reinvestment and Share Purchase Plan, amended in November 2002 (the 1999 Common Share Plan ): Allows holders of Common Shares to automatically reinvest Common Share distributions and certain holders and persons who are not holders of Common Shares to purchase a limited number of additional Common Shares by making optional cash payments, without payment of any brokerage commission or service charge. Common Shares that are acquired under the 1999 Common Share Plan, either through reinvestment of distributions or through optional cash payments, are acquired at a price ranging from 98% to 100% of the market price of such Common Shares, as determined by ProLogis. ProLogis generated net proceeds of $12.4 million from the issuance of 323,000 Common Shares during the three months ended March 31, 2005 under the 1999 Common Share Plan.

Long-term incentive plan (the Incentive Plan ) and Share Option Plan for Outside Trustees (the Outside Trustees Plan ): Certain employees and members of ProLogis Board of Trustees (the Board ) participate in these share- based compensation plans that provide compensation, generally in the form of Common Shares. There are an aggregate of 22,600,000 Common Shares (190,000 of which are allocated to the ProLogis 401(k) Plan and Trust) that have been made available for award under the Incentive Plan, of which 4,171,000 Common Shares were available for future awards at March 31, 2005 (3,981,000 under the Incentive Plan and 190,000 that are allocated to the 401(k) Plan and Trust). There are an aggregate of 500,000 Common Shares that have been made available under the Outside Trustees Plan of which 282,000 Common Shares are available for future awards at March 31, 2005. Under the Incentive Plan and the Outside Trustees Plan, the exercise of share options and other share awards generated net proceeds to ProLogis of $1.5 million from the issuance of 287,000 Common Shares during the three months ended March 31, 2005.

Limited partnership units were converted into 11,000 Common Shares during the first three months of 2005.

8. Distributions and Dividends:Common Share Distributions*

Distributions of $0.37 per Common Share for the first quarter of 2005 were paid on February 28, 2005 to holders of Common Shares on February 15, 2005. Quarterly Common Share distributions paid in 2005 are based on the annual distribution level for 2005 of $1.48 per Common Share (as compared to $1.46 per Common Share in 2004) set by the Board in December 2004. The payment of Common Share distributions is subject to the discretion of the Board and is dependent upon ProLogis financial condition and operating results, and may be adjusted at the discretion of the Board during the year.

Preferred Share Dividends

The annual dividends on ProLogis cumulative redeemable preferred shares of beneficial interest ( Preferred Shares ) are $4.27 per share (Series C) and $1.6875 per share (Series F and Series G). On March 31, 2005, ProLogis paid quarterly dividends of $1.0675 per share (Series C) and $0.4219 per share (Series F and Series G). Such dividends are payable quarterly in arrears on the last day of March, June, September and December. Dividends on Preferred Shares are payable when, and if, they have been declared by the Board, out of funds legally available for the payment of dividends.

Pursuant to the terms of its Preferred Shares, ProLogis is restricted from declaring or paying any distribution with respect to its Common Shares unless and until all cumulative dividends with respect to the Preferred Shares have been paid and sufficient funds have been set aside for dividends that have been declared for the then-current dividend period with respect to the Preferred Shares.

9. Earnings Per Common Share:

Reconciliations of the numerator and denominator used to calculate basic net earnings attributable to Common Shares per share to the numerator and denominator used to calculate diluted net earnings attributable to Common Shares per share for the periods indicated are as follows (in thousands of U.S. dollars, except per share amounts):

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2005	2004
Net earnings attributable to Common Shares	$ 55,074	$ 43,497
Minority interest share in earnings (1)	1,341
Adjusted net earnings attributable to Common Shares	$ 56,415	$ 43,497
Weighted average Common Shares outstanding - Basic	186,154	180,732
Incremental weighted average effect of conversion of limited partnership units(1)	5,543
Incremental weighted average effect of potentially dilutive instruments(2)	4,483	4,523
Adjusted weighted average Common Shares outstanding Diluted	196,180	185,255
Net earnings attributable to Common Shares per share Basic	$ 0.30	$ 0.24
Net earnings attributable to Common Shares per share Diluted	$ 0.29	$ 0.23

(1) Weighted average limited partnership units of 4,683,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2004 are not included in the calculation of diluted earnings per Common Share as the effect, on an as if converted basis, was anti-dilutive.

(2) Total weighted average potentially dilutive instruments outstanding were 11,180,000 and 11,734,000 for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively. Of the total potentially dilutive instruments, 25,000 and 4,000 were antidilutive for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

10. Long-Term Compensation:

ProLogis recognizes the costs of its share-based compensation plans under the provisions of Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ( SFAS ) No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation , that allow ProLogis to continue to account for these plans using Accounting Principles Board ( APB ) Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees , and related interpretations. Under APB No. 25, if the exercise price of the share options granted equals or exceeds the market price of the underlying share on the date of grant, no compensation expense is recognized. SFAS No. 123 requires that the fair value of the share options granted be recognized as compensation expense, regardless of the relationship of the exercise price to the market price. ProLogis grants share options to employees and members of its Board that have an exercise price that is equal to the average of the high and low market prices on the day the options are granted. Therefore, no compensation expense is recognized. ProLogis recognizes compensation expense if the terms of the share options or other instruments awarded are changed in such a manner that the variable accounting rules as provided in APB No. 25 become applicable.

Had ProLogis recognized compensation expense for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004 using an option valuation model as provided in SFAS No. 123, its net earnings attributable to Common Shares would have changed as follows (in thousands of U.S. dollars, except per share amounts):

Table of Contents

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2005	2004
Net earnings attributable to Common Shares:
As reported	$ 55,074	$ 43,497
Pro forma	53,547	42,378
Net earnings attributable to Common Shares per share:
As reported Basic	$ 0.30	$ 0.24
As reported Diluted	0.29	0.23
Pro forma Basic	0.29	0.23
Pro forma Diluted	0.28	0.23

Since share options vest over several years and additional grants are likely to be made in future years, the pro forma compensation expense used in the presentation above may not be representative of compensation expense to be expected in future years. There were no option grants during the three months ended March 31, 2005.

On December 16, 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued SFAS No. 123R, Share Based Payment which requires ProLogis and other public companies to measure the cost of employee services received in exchange for an award of an equity instrument based on the award's fair value on the grant date. The cost of these awards will be recognized over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for the award, generally the vesting period. In addition, a public company will measure the cost of employee services received in exchange for an award of liability instruments at its initial fair value, which will subsequently be remeasured at each reporting period. Changes in fair value during the service period will be recognized as compensation expense over that period. SFAS No. 123R is effective for ProLogis beginning in the first quarter of 2006, however, early adoption is allowed. ProLogis is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of SFAS No. 123R will have on its financial position and its results of operations.

11. Business Segments:

ProLogis has two reportable business segments:

Property operations representing the long-term ownership, management and leasing of industrial distribution properties, either directly or through investments in unconsolidated property funds in which ProLogis has an ownership interest and acts as manager. Each operating property and each investment in a property fund is considered to be an individual operating segment having similar economic characteristics that are combined within the reportable segment based upon geographic location. ProLogis' operations in the property operations business segment are in North America (the United States and Mexico), Europe (primarily through its investment in ProLogis European Properties Fund which operates in 11 countries, primarily France and the United Kingdom), and Asia (Japan, primarily through its investment in ProLogis Japan Properties Fund, and Singapore).

CDFS business representing the development, acquisition and rehabilitation and/or acquisition and repositioning of industrial distribution properties with the intent to contribute the properties to unconsolidated property funds in which ProLogis has an ownership interest and acts as manager or to sell the developed properties to third parties. Additionally, ProLogis includes the fees earned for development activities on behalf of customers or third parties. Dispositions of land parcels when ProLogis' development plans no longer include the development of the parcels are also included in this reportable segment. The separate activities in this segment are considered to be individual operating segments having similar economic characteristics that are combined within the reportable segment based upon geographic location. ProLogis' CDFS business segment operations are in North America (the United States, Mexico and Canada), in 11 countries in Europe (France, United Kingdom, Poland, Netherlands, Italy, Germany, Spain, Czech Republic, Sweden, Hungary and Belgium) and in Asia (Japan, China and Singapore).

The assets of the CDFS business segment generally include properties under development and land held for development. During the period between the completion of development, rehabilitation or repositioning of a property and the date the property is contributed to a property fund or sold to a third party, the property and its associated rental income and rental expenses are included in the property operations segment because the primary activity associated with the property during that period is leasing. Upon contribution or sale, the resulting gain or loss is part of the income of the CDFS business segment.

ProLogis presents the operations and the net gains and losses associated with certain properties as discontinued operations. Accordingly, these amounts are excluded from the segment presentation. See Note 6.

Reconciliations are presented below for: (i) each reportable business segment's revenue from external customers to ProLogis' total revenues; (ii) each reportable business segment's net operating income from external customers to ProLogis' earnings before minority interest; and (iii) each reportable business segment's assets to ProLogis' total assets. ProLogis' chief operating decision makers rely primarily on net operating income and similar measures to make decisions about allocating resources and assessing segment performance. The applicable components of ProLogis' revenues, earnings before minority interest and assets are allocated to each reportable business segment's income, net operating income and assets. Items that are not directly assignable to a segment are reflected as reconciling items. The following reconciliations are presented in thousands of U.S. dollars:

12. Supplemental Cash Flow Information:

Non-Cash Investing and Financing Activities

Non-cash investing and financing activities for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004 are as follows:

ProLogis received $15.1 million and $16.8 million of equity interests in property funds from the contributions of properties to the respective property funds during the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Net foreign currency translation adjustments of ($15.2) million and $42.8 million were recognized during the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

During the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, ProLogis capitalized portions of the total cost of its share-based compensation awards of $0.9 million and $1.2 million, respectively, to the investment basis of its properties under development.

As partial consideration for certain property contributions, ProLogis received $32.6 million and $3.2 million in the form of notes receivable from ProLogis North American Properties Fund V during the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The outstanding balance of the notes at March 31, 2005 was $44.0 million.

ProLogis assumed $5.4 million of secured debt in connection with the acquisition of a property in 2005.

ProLogis issued $1.3 million of additional units in a limited partnership during the three months ended March 31, 2005.

Minority interest liability of $150,000 and $33,000 was settled with the conversion of limited partnership units into Common Shares during the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Other Information

The amount of interest paid in cash for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004 was $46.5 million and $45.8 million, respectively.

13. Derivative Financial Instruments:

ProLogis uses derivative financial instruments as hedges to manage well-defined risk associated with interest and foreign currency exchange rate fluctuations on existing or anticipated obligations and transactions. ProLogis does not use derivative financial instruments for trading purposes.

The primary risks associated with derivative instruments are market risk and credit risk. Market risk is defined as the potential for loss in the value of the derivative due to adverse changes in market prices (interest rates or foreign currency exchange rates). The use of derivative financial instruments allows ProLogis to manage the risks of increases in interest rates and fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates with respect to the effects these fluctuations would have on ProLogis income and cash flows.

Table of Contents

Credit risk is the risk that one of the parties to a derivative contract fails to perform or meet their financial obligation under the contract. ProLogis does not obtain collateral to support financial instruments subject to credit risk but monitors the credit standing of counterparties, primarily global commercial banks. ProLogis does not anticipate non-performance by any of the counterparties to its derivative instruments. However, should a counterparty fail to perform, ProLogis would incur a financial loss to the extent a positive fair market value is attributable to ProLogis derivative contract position.

The following table summarizes the activity in ProLogis derivative instruments for the three months ended March 31, 2005 (in millions of U.S. dollars):

	Foreign Currency Put Options(1)	Foreign Currency Forward (2)	Interest Rate Swaps(3)
Notional amounts at December 31, 2004	$	$	$
New contracts	98.0	67.0	50.0
Matured or expired contracts			(50.0)
Notional amounts at March 31, 2005	$ 98.0	$ 67.0	$ 50.0

- (1) The foreign currency put option contracts are paid in full at execution and are related to ProLogis operations in Europe and Japan. The put option contracts provide ProLogis with the option to exchange euro, pound sterling or yen for U.S. dollars at a fixed exchange rate such that, if the euro, pound sterling or yen were to depreciate against the U.S. dollar to predetermined levels set by the contracts, ProLogis could exercise its options and mitigate its foreign currency exchange losses. The notional amounts of the put option contracts outstanding at March 31, 2005 represent the U.S. dollar equivalent of 47.7 million euro, and 3.7 billion yen.

The put option contracts generally do not qualify for hedge accounting treatment and are marked-to-market through results of operations at the end of each period. Upon expiration of the contract, the mark-to-market adjustment is reversed, the total cost of the contract is expensed and any proceeds received are recognized as a gain. For the three months ended March 31, 2005, ProLogis recognized a mark-to-market gain of $0.3 million associated with the contracts outstanding at March 31, 2005.

- (2) The foreign currency forward contract was designated as a cash flow hedge of an intercompany loan denominated in pound sterling and allowed ProLogis to sell pound sterling at a fixed exchange rate to the U.S. dollar. The notional amount of this contract is 35.0 million pound sterling. This contract qualifies for hedge accounting treatment. Accordingly, ProLogis has offset the mark-to-market loss on this contract with the corresponding mark-to-market gain recognized on the intercompany loan.
- (3) At March 31, 2005, ProLogis had an interest rate swap agreement outstanding in the notional amount of $50.0 million. This contract is designated as a cash flow hedge and it qualifies for hedge accounting treatment. The contract allows ProLogis to fix a portion of the interest rate associated with a debt instrument forecasted to be issued for a five-year period. At March 31, 2005, the forecasted transaction had not been completed and ProLogis recognized a $0.9 million increase in the value of the contract in other comprehensive income in shareholder's equity as of that date.

During the three months ended March 31, 2005, an interest rate swap contract with the notional amount of $50.0 million associated with the same forecasted transaction expired. ProLogis has recognized the total decrease in value of $0.9 million associated with this contract in other comprehensive income as of March 31, 2005. ProLogis will reclassify a total of $1.0 million from other comprehensive income to interest expense in 2005 (including $0.2 million of expense that was reclassified in the first quarter of 2005) associated with these interest rate swap contracts and four other contracts that have received hedge accounting treatment. ProLogis is hedging its exposure to the variability in future cash flows for forecasted transactions over a maximum period of three months.

14. Commitments and Contingencies:

Environmental Matters

All of the properties acquired by ProLogis were subjected to environmental reviews by either ProLogis or by the predecessor owners. While some of these assessments have led to further investigation and sampling, none of the environmental assessments have revealed an environmental liability (including any asbestos related liability) that ProLogis believes would have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition or results of operations. Further, ProLogis is not currently aware of any environmental liability (including any asbestos related liability) that it believes would have a material adverse effect on its business, financial condition or results of operations.

The Board of Trustees and Shareholders

ProLogis:

We have reviewed the accompanying consolidated condensed balance sheet of ProLogis and subsidiaries as of March 31, 2005, and the related consolidated condensed statements of earnings and comprehensive income and the related consolidated condensed statements of cash flows for the three-month periods ended March 31, 2005 and 2004. These consolidated condensed financial statements are the responsibility of ProLogis management.

We conducted our reviews in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). A review of interim financial information consists principally of applying analytical procedures to financial data and making inquiries of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters. It is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements taken as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Based on our reviews, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the consolidated condensed financial statements referred to above for them to be in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

We have previously audited, in accordance with standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the consolidated balance sheet of ProLogis and subsidiaries as of December 31, 2004, and the related consolidated statements of earnings, shareholders equity and comprehensive income, and cash flows for the year then ended (not presented herein); and in our report dated March 14, 2005, we expressed an unqualified opinion on those consolidated financial statements. In our opinion, the information set forth in the accompanying consolidated condensed balance sheet as of December 31, 2004, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the consolidated balance sheet from which it has been derived.

ITEM 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

The following discussion should be read in conjunction with ProLogis' Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements and the related notes included in Item 1 of this report and ProLogis' 2004 Annual Report on Form 10-K/A #1.

Some statements contained in this discussion are not historical facts but are forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Because these forward-looking statements are based on current expectations, estimates and projections about the industry and markets in which ProLogis operates, management's beliefs and assumptions made by management, they involve uncertainties that could significantly impact ProLogis' financial results. Words such as expects, anticipates, intends, plans, believes, seeks, estimates, variations of such words and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements include discussions of strategy, plans or intentions of management. These statements are not guarantees of future performance and involve certain risks, uncertainties and assumptions that are difficult to predict. The discussions concerning ProLogis' expectations with respect to economic conditions in the geographic areas where it has operations and its ability to raise private capital and generate income in the CDFS business segment (including the discussions with respect to ProLogis' expectations as to the availability of capital in its existing property funds such that these property funds will be able to acquire ProLogis' stabilized developed properties that are expected to be available for contribution in the future) contain forward-looking statements. Therefore, actual outcomes and results may differ materially from what is expressed or forecasted in such forward-looking statements. Factors that may affect outcomes and results include: (i) changes in general economic conditions in ProLogis' markets that could adversely affect demand for ProLogis' properties and the creditworthiness of ProLogis' customers; (ii) changes in financial markets, interest rates and foreign currency exchange rates that could adversely affect ProLogis' cost of capital, its ability to meet its financial needs and obligations and its results of operations; (iii) increased or unanticipated competition for distribution properties in ProLogis' markets; (iv) the availability of private capital to ProLogis; (v) geopolitical concerns and uncertainties; and (vi) those additional factors discussed in ProLogis' 2004 Annual Report on Form 10-K/A #1.

Overview

A summary of the discussions that follow in Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations is presented below.

Results of Operations:

ProLogis' net earnings attributable to Common Shares were $55.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 compared to $43.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2004.

Net operating income of ProLogis' property operations segment increased by $4.2 million for the first quarter of 2005 over the same period in 2004; stabilized leased percentage at March 31, 2005 (92.2%) was higher than at March 31, 2004 (90.5%); rental rates on new leases of previously leased space decreased 2.0% in the first quarter of 2005; and same store net operating income, as defined, increased 1.98% for the first quarter of 2005 as compared to the same period in 2004.

ProLogis' income from property funds increased by $7.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 from the three months ended March 31, 2004, including an increase in fees earned from property funds of $5.3 million.

Operating income of ProLogis CDFS business segment was $26.6 million higher for the three months ended March 31, 2005 than for the same period in 2004.

ProLogis recognized an impairment loss of $13.1 million during the three months ended March 31, 2005, related to the French operations of its temperature-controlled company that are held for sale at March 31, 2005.

Table of ContentsLiquidity and Capital Resources:*

Generated net cash flow from operating activities in the first quarter of 2005 of $85.8 million.

Used net cash in its investing activities of $240.7 million during the three months in 2005 (used $538.8 million for real estate investments and generated $255.9 million from contributions and sales of properties and land parcels).

Sales and issuances of Common Shares under various Common Share plans generated net cash of $12.4 million.

Distributed $0.37 per Common Share in February 2005 for aggregate distributions paid of $68.9 million based on an annual distribution level for 2005 of $1.48 per Common Share.

Results of OperationsThree Months Ended March 31, 2005 and 2004*

ProLogis net earnings attributable to Common Shares were $55.1 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and $43.5 million for the three months ended March 31, 2004. Basic and diluted net earnings attributable to Common Shares were $0.30 and $0.29 per share, respectively, for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and $0.24 and $0.23 per share, respectively, for the three months ended March 31, 2004.

Property Operations

In addition to its directly owned operating properties, ProLogis includes its investments in property funds that are presented under the equity method in its property operations segment. See Note 5 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1. ProLogis owned operating properties directly or had ownership interests in operating properties through its investments in property funds as follows as of the dates indicated (square feet in thousands):

	March 31, 2005		December 31, 2004		March 31, 2004
	Number	Square Feet	Number	Square Feet	Number	Square Feet
Direct ownership	1,220	131,679	1,228	133,630	1,252	134,072
Property funds(1)	722	153,308	708	149,141	501	100,609
Totals	1,942	284,987	1,936	282,771	1,753	234,681

(1) ProLogis ownership interests in the property funds ranged from 11.4% to 50% at March 31, 2005.

The net operating income of ProLogis property operations segment consists of: (i) rental income and rental expenses from the operating properties that are directly owned by ProLogis; (ii) income recognized by ProLogis under the equity method from its investments in the property funds; (iii) fees and other income earned by ProLogis for services performed on behalf of the property funds, primarily property management and asset management services; and (iv) interest earned on advances to the property funds, if any. The net earnings or losses generated by operating properties that were developed or acquired in the CDFS business segment are included in the property operations segment during the interim period from the date of completion or acquisition through the date the properties are contributed or sold. See Note 11 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1 for a reconciliation of net operating income to earnings before minority interest.

The amounts recognized under the equity method represent ProLogis' proportionate share of the net earnings or loss of each property fund based on its ownership interest in the property fund. The net earnings or losses of the property funds includes the following income and expense items of the property funds, in addition to rental income and rental expenses: (i) interest income and interest expense; (ii) depreciation and amortization expenses; (iii) general and administrative expenses; (iv) income taxes; and (v) foreign currency exchange gains and losses, with respect to ProLogis European Properties Fund. See Note 5 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1. ProLogis net operating income from the property operations segment was as follows for the periods indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars).

- (1) Amounts do not include rental income and rental expenses associated with the properties that are presented as discontinued operations in ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Statements of Earnings in Item 1. The amounts excluded are:

Rental income of $226,000 for the first three months of 2005 and $1,058,000 for the first three months of 2004, including rental expense recoveries of $118,000 for the first three months of 2005 and $102,000 for the first three months of 2004.

Rental expenses of $156,000 for the first three months of 2005 and $362,000 for the first three months of 2004.

- (2) The number and composition of operating properties that are directly owned by ProLogis throughout the periods presented impact rental income for each period. Rental income includes net termination and renegotiation fees of $0.3 million in the first quarter of 2005 and $0.6 million in the first quarter of 2004. Net termination and renegotiation fees represent the gross fee negotiated to allow a customer to terminate or renegotiate their lease, offset by the customer's rent leveling asset that has been previously recognized under GAAP, if any. In certain leasing situations, ProLogis finds it advantageous to negotiate lease terminations with a customer, particularly when the customer is experiencing financial difficulties or when ProLogis believes that it can re-lease the space at rates that, when combined with the termination fee, provide a total return to ProLogis in excess of what was being earned under the original lease terms. ProLogis cannot predict the level of such fees that will be earned in the future or whether ProLogis will be successful in re-leasing, in a timely manner, the vacant space associated with the lease terminations.

Rental expense recoveries from customers, a component of rental income, were $26.5 million for the first quarter of 2005 and $26.9 million for the first quarter of 2004.

Including discontinued operations, rental income, excluding termination and renegotiation fees and rental expense recoveries, was $110.0 million for the first quarter of 2005 and $110.6 million for the same period in 2004. In the first quarter of 2005, occupancy levels were higher than in the first quarter of 2004. However, the number of direct owned properties was higher during the first quarter of 2004 than the first quarter of 2005.

- (3) The number and composition of operating properties that are directly owned by ProLogis throughout the periods presented impacts rental expenses for each period. Rental expenses, including discontinued operations, were $39.3 million for the first quarter of 2005 and $36.6 million for the same period in 2004. Rental expenses are presented before any recoveries from customers, which are a component of rental income. Also, ProLogis reports the costs of managing the properties owned by property funds as part of rental expenses. When a property is contributed to a property fund, ProLogis begins reporting its share of the earnings of the property under the equity method along with fee income earned for services provided to the property funds, and no longer reports the operations of the property as part of its rental income and rental expenses. However, the overhead costs to provide the management services to the property fund continue to be reported as part of rental expenses.

Rental expenses, including discontinued operations, as a percentage of rental income, including discontinued operations and excluding rental expense recoveries and termination and renegotiation fees, were 35.7% in the first quarter of 2005 and 33.1% in the first quarter of 2004. Rental expense recoveries, including discontinued operations, were 67.7% and 73.8% of rental expenses, including discontinued operations in the first quarter of 2005 and the first quarter of 2004, respectively. These trends are the result of the inclusion of the property management expenses associated with a higher number of managed properties in rental expenses in the first quarter of 2005 as compared to the first quarter of 2004 and higher than expected snow removal expenses in the first quarter of 2005. Snow removal costs are generally not fully recoverable from customers under the lease terms.

- (4) The income from property funds includes fees earned by ProLogis for providing services to the property funds of $16.5 million in the three months ended March 31, 2005 and $11.3 million for the same period in 2004. ProLogis began earning fees from ProLogis North American Properties Funds VI through XII in August 2004, which aggregated $2.1 million during the first quarter of 2005.
- (5) ProLogis' ownership interest in the property fund was the same for both periods presented and each of the property funds was in operation with substantially the same portfolio of properties for both periods presented. ProLogis' ownership interests are: ProLogis California (50%); ProLogis North American Properties Fund I (41.3%); ProLogis North American Properties Fund II (20%); ProLogis North American Properties Fund III (20%) and ProLogis North American Properties Fund IV (20%). With respect to each property fund, fluctuations between years in the amount that ProLogis recognizes under the equity method are generally due to occupancy levels and the amount of termination and renegotiation fees earned by the property fund. Additionally, fees earned by ProLogis for providing services to the property fund for other than property management and asset management services can fluctuate from year to year. ProLogis' share of the net earnings of ProLogis California for the three months ended March 31, 2004 includes $0.6 million of net gains from property dispositions. ProLogis North American Properties Fund III has experienced an occupancy decline since March 31, 2004 that has resulted in lower earnings for the three months ended March 31, 2005.
- (6) ProLogis North American Properties Fund V has continued to acquire properties (generally from ProLogis) and increase its portfolio size since its inception on March 28, 2002. ProLogis' ownership interest in ProLogis North American Properties Fund V was 11.4% at March 31, 2005, and 14.0% at March 31, 2004. ProLogis earned fees other than for property management, asset management and leasing of $2.2 million for the first three months of 2005 and $1.4 million for the first three months of 2004. ProLogis' income for the three months in 2005 includes its proportionate share of net termination and renegotiation fees of $0.6 million. Excluding net termination and renegotiation fees and other fees, ProLogis recognized income from ProLogis North American Properties Fund V of $1.1 million for both the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The increase in income recognized by ProLogis under the equity method due to the growth in the portfolio from March 31, 2004 to March 31, 2005 (128 properties, 31.0 million square feet at March 31, 2005 and 97 properties, 21.9 million square feet at March 31, 2004) was offset by ProLogis' decreased ownership interest during this period.

- (7) ProLogis North American Properties Funds VI through X began operations on June 20, 2004 when ProLogis contributed 21 properties aggregating 3.0 million square feet to the five property funds. ProLogis North American Properties Funds VI through X collectively acquired an additional 22.5 million square feet of properties as part of the Keystone Transaction in August 2004. See Note 2 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1. ProLogis has a 20% ownership interest in each property fund.

Table of Contents

- (8) ProLogis North American Properties Funds XI and XII were formed by Keystone. ProLogis acquired its 20% ownership interest in each of these property funds as part of the Keystone Transaction in August 2004. See Note 2 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1. These property funds own a combined 26 properties aggregating 7.7 million square feet.
- (9) ProLogis European Properties Fund has continued to acquire properties, generally from ProLogis, and increase its portfolio size since it began operations in 1999. ProLogis ownership interest in ProLogis European Properties Fund was 21.2% at March 31, 2005 and 22.6% at March 31, 2004.

Amounts presented for ProLogis European Properties Fund include ProLogis proportionate share of net foreign currency exchange gains and losses (net gains of $0.3 million for the first three months of 2005 and net losses of $0.3 million for the first three months of 2004). Excluding these net foreign currency exchange gains and losses, ProLogis proportionate share of the net earnings of ProLogis European Properties Fund was $11.8 million and $9.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The increase in the income recognized by ProLogis from its ownership in this property fund, excluding net foreign currency exchange gains and losses, results from the following factors: (i) the size of the portfolio and occupancy levels in 2005 as compared to 2004; (ii) an increase in the fees earned by ProLogis for services provided to the property fund due to the increase in the number of properties managed by ProLogis in 2005; (iii) higher interest costs associated with the higher debt levels, primarily the result of using debt to acquire the additional properties; (iv) a decrease in ProLogis ownership interest in the first quarter of 2005 and (v) an increase in the average foreign currency exchange rate at which ProLogis translates its share of the net earnings of the ProLogis European Properties Fund to U.S. dollars in the first quarter of 2005. The fund owned 234 properties aggregating 48.7 million square feet and 204 properties aggregating 41.9 million square feet at March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively.

- (10) ProLogis Japan Properties Fund owned 14 properties aggregating 4.5 million square feet at March 31, 2005 as compared to six properties aggregating 2.0 million square feet at March 31, 2004. ProLogis ownership interest in ProLogis Japan Properties Fund has been 20% since its inception on September 24, 2002. The increase in the income recognized by ProLogis from its ownership in this property fund corresponds with the growth in the portfolio since March 31, 2004.

The stabilized operating properties owned by ProLogis and the property funds were 92.2% leased at March 31, 2005 and 90.5% leased at March 31, 2004. ProLogis stabilized properties are generally those properties where the capital improvements, repositioning efforts, new management and new marketing programs for acquisitions or the marketing programs in the case of newly developed properties, have been completed and in effect for a sufficient period of time. A property enters the stabilized pool at the earlier of 12 months from acquisition or completion or when it becomes substantially leased, which is defined by ProLogis generally as 93%.

Changes in economic conditions will generally impact customer leasing decisions and absorption of new distribution properties. Weakening economic conditions in the United States and certain Western European countries and certain geopolitical concerns and uncertainties, primarily in Europe, negatively impacted ProLogis stabilized occupancy levels beginning in the last half of 2002 and continuing throughout 2003. Beginning in the second quarter of 2004, ProLogis observed improvements in North American absorption and occupancy levels. At that same time, ProLogis began to experience improvements in leasing activity in Europe, primarily with respect to its existing pipeline of CDFS business assets that were included in the property operations segment prior to being contributed or sold. With respect to Japan, ProLogis has not observed similar negative trends in economic conditions and continues to experience consistent demand for distribution space in its properties.

ProLogis expects that the overall economic improvements experienced in 2004 will continue in 2005. Accordingly, ProLogis also believes that the positive trends in occupancies in North America and Europe will continue in 2005. However, ProLogis does not believe that occupancies in 2005 will improve to the levels experienced in the 1999 to 2001 period, when occupancies were as high as 96.5%. ProLogis continues to believe that shifts in distribution patterns of its customers throughout the world and their needs to reduce their distribution costs have been, and will continue to be, key drivers of leasing decisions. ProLogis believes that the diversification of its global operating platform and the ProLogis Operating System® have somewhat mitigated the effects of market occupancy decreases.

Rental rates in the first quarter of 2005 for both new and renewed leases for previously leased space (15.7 million square feet) for all properties, including those owned by the property funds, decreased by 2.0% as compared to a rental rate decrease of 5.5% in the first quarter of 2004 on similar transactions. ProLogis believes that the decrease in rental rate growth experienced in the first quarter of 2005 continues to be the result of economic conditions that have depressed current market rents such that they are generally below the rents that ProLogis was earning on expiring leases (many of which were entered into prior to weakening economic conditions that began in 2002). ProLogis believes that the negative trend in its rental rate growth will continue, although at a decreasing rate, through 2005.

ProLogis management evaluates the operating performance of its property operations segment, its management personnel and individual markets using a same store analysis because the population of properties in this analysis is consistent from period to period, thereby eliminating the effects of changes in the composition of the portfolio on performance measures. ProLogis includes properties owned directly and properties owned by its property funds in the same store analysis. Accordingly, ProLogis defines its same store portfolio of operating properties for each quarter as those properties that have been in operation throughout the full quarter in both the current and prior year and that were also in operation at January 1st of the prior year. When a property is disposed of to a third party it will be removed from the population for the current quarter and the corresponding quarter of the prior year only. ProLogis same store portfolio aggregated 227.1 million square feet for the first quarter of 2005. Net operating income generated by the same store portfolio, defined for the same store analysis as rental income, excluding termination and renegotiation fees, less rental expenses, increased by 1.98% for the first three months of 2005, as compared with the first three months of 2004. For 2004, the net operating income of the same store portfolio applicable to that period increased by 0.7% over the comparable period in 2003. The same store portfolio's rental rates decreased in the first three months of 2005 by 2.1% while the average occupancy increased by 3.25% during the first quarter of 2005 as compared to the same period in 2004. ProLogis believes that the factors that impact net operating income, rental rates and average occupancy in the same store portfolio are the same as for its total portfolio. The percentage change presented is the weighted average of the measure computed separately for ProLogis and each of the property funds with the weighting based on each entity's proportionate share of the combined component on which the change is computed. In order to derive an appropriate measure of period-to-period operating performance, the percentage change computation removes the effects of foreign currency exchange rate movements by computing each property's components in that property's functional currency.

Rental income computed under GAAP applicable to the properties included in the same store portfolio is adjusted to remove the net termination and renegotiation fees recognized in each period. Net termination and renegotiation fees excluded from rental income for the same store portfolio (including properties directly owned and properties owned by the property funds) were $5.7 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and $1.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2004. Net termination and renegotiation fees represent the gross fee negotiated to allow a customer to terminate or renegotiate their lease, offset by that customer's rent leveling asset that has been previously recognized under GAAP, if any. Removing the net termination fees from the same store calculation of rental income allows ProLogis management to evaluate the growth or decline in each property's rental income without regard to items that are not indicative of the property's recurring operating performance. Customer terminations are negotiated under specific circumstances and are not subject to specific provisions or rights allowed under the lease agreements.

In computing the percentage change in rental expenses, the rental expenses applicable to the properties in the same store portfolio include property management expenses for ProLogis directly owned properties. These expenses are based on the property management fee that is provided for in the individual agreements under which ProLogis wholly owned management company provides property management services to each property (generally the fee is based on a percentage of revenues).

Table of ContentsCDFS Business*

Net operating income from ProLogis' CDFS business segment consists primarily of: (i) gains and losses resulting from the contributions and sales of developed properties and from the contributions of properties that were acquired with the intent to contribute the properties to a property fund, including properties that have been rehabilitated and/or repositioned; (ii) gains and losses from the dispositions of land parcels; (iii) development management fees earned by ProLogis for services provided to third parties; and (iv) land holding costs and pursuit cost write-offs associated with CDFS business assets. See Note 11 to ProLogis' Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1 for a reconciliation of net operating income to earnings before minority interest.

Income from the CDFS business segment is dependent on ProLogis' ability to develop and timely lease properties, or to acquire properties that eventually can be contributed to property funds or sold to third parties, generating profits to ProLogis, and ProLogis' success in raising private capital that can be used to acquire its properties, generally accomplished through the formation of property funds, but also from other sources. For the three months ended March 31, 2005, ProLogis' net operating income in this segment increased from the same period in 2004 by $26.6 million (an increase of $20.8 million when the gains and losses from dispositions of CDFS business properties that are presented as discontinued operations are included). The net operating income for the first quarter of 2004 included a net gain of $4.7 million resulting from the recognition of net contingent proceeds related to a 2003 contribution.

The increase in the net gains recognized during the first three months in 2005 from the first three months in 2004 reflects significantly higher gross margins, particularly associated with the 2005 transactions in North America, and increased volume of contributions in North America and Japan. ProLogis attributes the volume of transactions in 2005 to improved leasing activity for CDFS business properties, mostly in North America and Japan. ProLogis believes that the increase in leasing activity results from improvements in economic conditions that have positively impacted its customers' decision-making processes with respect to changes in their distribution networks. There can be no assurance that ProLogis will be able to maintain or increase the current level of net operating income in this segment. ProLogis cannot predict the effects that economic conditions or other uncertainties, including geopolitical concerns, will have on its ability to lease its properties. If ProLogis is unable to timely lease its completed developments and repositioned acquisitions, it will be unable to contribute these properties to property funds or otherwise dispose of the properties and would be unable to recognize profits from its CDFS business activities in the anticipated reporting period.

The CDFS business segment's net operating income includes the following components for the periods indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2005	2004
CDFS transactions:
Net proceeds from dispositions(1)	$ 293,849	$ 158,921
Contingent proceeds realized(2)		5,871
Proceeds deferred and not recognized(3)	(11,258)	(8,912)
Costs of assets disposed of(1)	(227,250)	(128,722)
Net gains	55,341	27,158
Development management fees and other CDFS income	131	1,522
Income from CDFS Joint Ventures(4)	457
Other expenses and charges(5)	(1,607)	(996)

Total CDFS business segment	$ 54,322	$ 27,684
CDFS transactions recognized as discontinued operations(6):
Net proceeds from dispositions	$ 2,936	$ 68,150
Costs of assets disposed of	(3,375)	(62,735)
Net CDFS gains (losses) in discontinued operations	$ (439)	$ 5,415

- (1) Represents net proceeds and costs of assets disposed of associated with 44 acres of land and 4.3 million square feet of properties in 2005 and 79 acres of land and 5.8 million square feet of properties in 2004.
- (2) A contribution to ProLogis Japan Properties Fund in 2003 provided for an additional $5.9 million of proceeds, the receipt of which was contingent on the satisfactory performance of certain activities by ProLogis. These activities were completed in 2004. The receipt of these proceeds resulted in the recognition of an additional gain in 2004 of $4.7 million, after deferral.
- (3) When ProLogis contributes a property to a property fund in which it has an ownership interest, ProLogis does not recognize a portion of the proceeds in its computation of the gain resulting from the contribution. The amount of the proceeds that cannot be recognized is determined based on ProLogis' continuing ownership interest in the contributed property that arises due to ProLogis' ownership interest in the property fund that acquires the property. ProLogis defers this portion of the proceeds by recognizing a reduction to its investment in the respective property fund. ProLogis adjusts its proportionate share of the earnings or losses that it recognizes under the equity method from the property fund in later periods to reflect the property fund's depreciation expense as if the depreciation expense was computed on ProLogis' lower basis in the contributed property rather than on the property fund's basis in the contributed property. If a loss results when a property is contributed to a property fund, the entire loss is recognized.

When a property that ProLogis originally contributed to a property fund is disposed of to a third party by the property fund, ProLogis recognizes the net amount of the proceeds that it had previously deferred in results of operations in the period that the disposition to the third party occurs, in addition to ProLogis' proportionate share of the net gain or loss recognized by the property fund. Further, during periods when ProLogis' ownership interest in a property fund decreases, ProLogis will recognize gains to the extent that previously deferred proceeds are recognized to coincide with ProLogis' new ownership interest in the property fund. ProLogis ownership interests in ProLogis North American Properties Fund V and ProLogis European Properties Fund decreases from time to time. When this occurs, previously deferred proceeds are recognized as gains in the period the ownership decrease occurs.

- (4) Represents the income that ProLogis recognizes under the equity method from the CDFS Joint Ventures. ProLogis' ownership interest in each of the CDFS Joint Ventures is 50%. See Note 5 to ProLogis' Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1.
- (5) Includes land holding costs of $0.8 million and $0.7 million for the first three months of 2005 and 2004, respectively, and the write-off of previously capitalized pursuit costs related to potential CDFS business segment projects of $0.8 million and $0.3 million for the first three months of 2005 and 2004, respectively.
- (6) One 0.1 million square feet CDFS business property and three CDFS business properties aggregating 0.8 million square feet that were sold to third parties during the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively, met the criteria to be presented as discontinued operations. See Note 6 to ProLogis' Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1.

ProLogis continues to monitor leasing activity and general economic conditions as it pertains to its CDFS business segment. In the United States, ProLogis observed the early signs of economic recovery in 2004 and believes that continued improvement could provide increased CDFS business opportunities to ProLogis in the United States given its portfolio of properties available and under development. In North America, ProLogis acquired land for development in Toronto, Ontario and believes that this market along with its existing Mexico markets will provide opportunities within the CDFS business segment in the future. In Europe, ProLogis believes that the continued demand for state-of-the-art distribution properties, improvement in economic conditions and lessening of geopolitical concerns resulted in its improved leasing activity in 2004 and the first quarter of 2005. Such factors could continue to provide opportunities for ProLogis in the CDFS business segment. In Asia, ProLogis believes that demand for state-of-the-art distribution properties will continue to provide opportunities for ProLogis in the CDFS business segment. In Japan, the CDFS business opportunities available to ProLogis will be limited if ProLogis is unable to acquire adequate land parcels for development. In China, ProLogis is positioning itself to meet what it believes will be significant future demand for distribution space due to the expected growth in manufacturing and domestic consumer demand for goods.

General and Administrative Expenses

General and administrative expenses were $24.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and $19.6 million for the same period in 2004. Fluctuations in general and administrative expenses are influenced by the various business initiatives being undertaken in a given period. The increase in general and administrative expenses in the first quarter of 2005 over the first quarter of 2004 is primarily due to: (i) the overall growth of the company resulting from the continuing international expansion of ProLogis' operating platform and the Keystone Transaction; and (ii) the increase in the foreign currency exchange rates used to translate ProLogis' consolidated foreign subsidiaries' general and administrative expenses to U.S. dollars, which was higher in the first three months of 2005 as compared to the same period in 2004.

Relocation Expenses

ProLogis has relocated its information technology and corporate accounting functions from El Paso, Texas to Denver, Colorado and is moving its Denver corporate headquarters. The relocation from El Paso was completed in the first quarter of 2005. The relocation to the new corporate headquarters, which is located in Denver and is currently under development, is expected to be completed by the end of 2005.

For the three months ended March 31, 2005, ProLogis recognized total relocation expenses of $2.8 million, including $0.6 million of employee termination benefits, $0.5 million of accelerated depreciation associated with non-real estate assets whose useful life has been shortened due to the relocation plans and $1.7 million of costs associated with the hiring and training of new personnel and other costs, including travel and temporary facility costs. ProLogis began the relocation process in the second quarter of 2004.

Interest Expense

Interest expense is a function of the level of borrowings outstanding, interest rates charged on borrowings and the amount of interest capitalization based on the volume of ProLogis' development activities. Interest expense for the periods indicated includes the following components (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2005	2004
Gross interest expense	$ 47,859	$ 45,422
Premium/discount recognized, net	10	96
Amortization of deferred loan costs	1,179	1,492
Subtotal interest expense before capitalization(1)	49,048	47,010
Less: capitalized amounts(2)	12,440	7,387
Net interest expense	$ 36,608	$ 39,623

- (1) The increase in gross interest expense in 2005 is primarily a function of ProLogis' weighted average borrowings and weighted average interest rates, but is also impacted by the increase in the average foreign currency exchange rate used to translate to U.S. dollars the interest expense recognized by ProLogis' foreign subsidiaries prior to consolidation. The increase in the weighted average borrowings is primarily due to ProLogis' increased investments in property funds and CDFS Joint Ventures and its increased development activity in 2005.

- (2) Gross interest expense incurred on borrowings outstanding during the period is offset by the amount of interest that is capitalized based on ProLogis' qualifying development expenditures. Capitalized interest levels are reflective of ProLogis' average cost of debt and the volume of development activities in each period. ProLogis' development activities in the first quarter of 2005 were significantly higher than in the first quarter of 2004.
- Foreign Currency Exchange Gains (Expenses/Losses), Net

ProLogis and certain of its foreign consolidated subsidiaries have intercompany or third party debt that is not denominated in that entity's functional currency. When the debt is remeasured against the functional currency of the entity, a gain or loss can result. To mitigate its foreign currency exchange exposure, ProLogis borrows in the functional currency of the borrowing entity when possible. Certain of ProLogis' intercompany debt is remeasured with the resulting adjustment recognized as a cumulative translation adjustment in accumulated other comprehensive income in shareholders' equity. This treatment is applicable to intercompany debt that is deemed to be a permanent source of capital to the subsidiary or investee. Additionally, ProLogis utilizes derivative financial instruments to manage certain foreign currency exchange risks, primarily put option contracts with notional amounts corresponding to ProLogis' projected net income from its operations in Europe and Japan. See Note 13 to ProLogis' Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1.

Generally, the amount of net foreign currency exchange gains or losses recognized in results of operations is a function of movements in exchange rates, the levels of intercompany and third party debt outstanding and the currency in which such debt is denominated as compared to the functional currency of the entities that are parties to the debt agreements. The net foreign currency exchange amounts recognized in ProLogis' results of operations were as follows for the periods indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	Three Months Ended
	March 31,
	2005	2004
Gains (losses) from remeasurement of third party and certain intercompany debt, net(1)	$ (563)	$ 3,598
Gains (losses) from the settlement of third party and certain intercompany debt, net(1)	414	(53)
Transaction losses, net	(243)	(181)
Derivative financial instruments - put option contracts(2):
Expense associated with contracts expiring during the period		(542)
Mark-to-market gains on outstanding contracts, net	278	491
Totals	$ (114)	$ 3,313

(1) At the time certain debt balances are settled, remeasurement gains or losses that have been recognized in results of operations as unrealized are reversed and the cumulative foreign currency exchange gain or loss realized with respect to the settled balance is recognized in results of operations as a realized gain or loss in the period that the settlement occurs.

(2) ProLogis enters into foreign currency put option contracts related to its operations in Europe and Japan. These put option contracts do not qualify for hedge accounting treatment. Accordingly, the cost of the contract is capitalized at the contract's inception and is marked-to-market by ProLogis as of the end of each subsequent reporting period. Upon expiration of the contract, the mark-to-market adjustment is reversed, the total cost of the contract is expensed and any proceeds received are recognized as a gain. No contracts expired during the first quarter of 2005.

Income Taxes

ProLogis has elected to be taxed as a REIT under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the Code) and is not generally required to pay federal income taxes if it meets the REIT requirements of the Code. ProLogis consolidated subsidiaries in the United States that are not qualified REIT subsidiaries for tax purposes are subject to federal income taxes, and ProLogis is taxed in certain states in which it operates. Also, the foreign countries where ProLogis has operations do not necessarily recognize REITs under their respective tax laws. Accordingly, ProLogis recognizes income taxes for these jurisdictions in accordance with GAAP, as necessary.

Current income tax expense was $1.2 million and $2.2 million for the first three months in 2005 and 2004, respectively. Deferred income tax expense was $0.8 million and $2.7 million for the first three months in 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Current income tax expense is generally a function of the level of income recognized by ProLogis' taxable subsidiaries operating in the CDFS business segment in addition to state income taxes and taxes incurred in foreign jurisdictions. The deferred income tax component of total income taxes is generally a function of the period's temporary differences (items that are treated differently for tax purposes than for book purposes) and the utilization of tax net operating losses generated in prior years that had been previously recognized as deferred tax assets. Pursuant to certain indemnification agreements, ProLogis recognizes deferred income tax liabilities associated with certain property contributions to ProLogis European Properties Fund (beginning in the third quarter of 2003) and ProLogis North American Properties Fund V (beginning in the second quarter of 2004). Under these indemnification agreements, ProLogis will continue to recognize deferred income tax liabilities related to its future contributions to ProLogis European Properties Fund and ProLogis North American Properties Fund V (contributions of properties located in Mexico only). ProLogis recognized deferred income tax expense of $1.0 million for the first three months in 2005 and $2.1 million for the first three months in 2004 related to the indemnification agreements. See Note 5 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1.

Discontinued Operations

Discontinued operations represent a component of an entity that has either been disposed of or is classified as held for sale if both the operations and cash flows of the component have been or will be eliminated from ongoing operations of the entity as a result of the disposal transaction and the entity will not have any significant continuing involvement in the operations of the component after the disposal transaction. The assets and liabilities of the component of the entity that has been classified as discontinued operations are presented separately in the balance sheet and the results of operations of the component of the entity that has been classified as discontinued operations are reported as discontinued operations in the statement of earnings. See Note 6 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1.

The net assets of ProLogis temperature-controlled distribution operations in France that are classified as held for sale consisted of the following at March 31, 2005 (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

Assets:
Property, plant and equipment, net of accumulated depreciation and amortization	$ 42,329
Cash	33,646
Accounts receivable	19,745
Other assets	7,024
Total assets	102,744
Liabilities:
Third party debt	174
Accounts payable	18,680
Deferred income tax liability	13,120
Other liabilities	30,875
Total liabilities	62,849
Net assets	$ 39,895

These operations in France that are classified as held for sale generated a net loss of $11.4 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005. This loss includes an impairment charge of $13.1 million that was recognized to reflect the carrying value of these assets at their estimated fair value less costs to sell, based on a binding offer received during 2005.

Properties disposed of to third parties are considered to be discontinued operations unless ProLogis developed such properties under a pre-sale agreement. Properties that ProLogis contributes to property funds in which ProLogis maintains an ownership interest and acts as manager are not considered to be discontinued operations due to ProLogis continuing involvement with the properties.

During the period prior to the contribution or sale but after the completion of CDFS business activities (development, rehabilitation or repositioning), ProLogis includes CDFS business assets in its operating portfolio and as a part of the property operations segment. These assets do not generally meet the criteria to be classified as held for sale or as discontinued operations. See Note 11 to ProLogis Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1.

ProLogis disposed of five properties during the three months ended March 31, 2005 that met the criteria to be presented as discontinued operations, and recognized net gains of $1.8 million associated with these dispositions. Of the five properties disposed of during 2005, one property was a CDFS business asset. This property generated an aggregate net loss of $0.4 million from aggregate net disposition proceeds of $2.9 million. The remaining four properties disposed of in 2005 were held and used in ProLogis property operations segment. The dispositions of these properties generated an aggregate net gain of $2.2 million from aggregate net disposition proceeds of $6.9 million. In addition, ProLogis disposed of 20 properties (ten of which were CDFS business assets) during 2004.

The operating amounts attributable to the properties disposed of in either 2005 or 2004, that are presented as discontinued operations (other than the amounts recognized upon disposition) are as follows for the periods indicated, (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

	Three Months Ended
	March 31,
	2005	2004
Rental income	$ 226	$ 1,058
Rental expenses	(156)	(362)
Depreciation and amortization	(76)	(416)
Operating income (loss)	$ (6)	$ 280

Excess of Redemption Values over Carrying Values of Preferred Shares Redeemed

ProLogis recognized a charge to net earnings of $4.2 million for the three months ended March 31, 2004 representing the excess of the redemption values over the carrying values of the remaining 5,000,000 Series D Preferred Shares that were redeemed in January 2004. After the 2004 redemption, all of ProLogis series of Preferred Shares that have met their optional redemption date have been redeemed. The next optional redemption date for a series of Preferred Shares is in 2008.

Environmental Matters

ProLogis has not been notified by any governmental authority of any non-compliance, liability or other claim in connection with any of the properties owned (directly or through investments in unconsolidated entities), or being acquired, as of March 31, 2005, and ProLogis is not aware of any environmental condition with respect to any of its properties that is likely to have a material adverse effect on ProLogis business, financial condition or results of operations.

Liquidity and Capital ResourcesOverview*

ProLogis considers its liquidity and its ability to generate cash from operating activities, from the contributions and sales of properties and from other available financing sources to be adequate to meet its anticipated future development, acquisition, operating and debt service needs, as well as its shareholder distribution requirements.

ProLogis lines of credit provide liquidity and financial flexibility, thereby allowing ProLogis to efficiently respond to market opportunities and execute its business strategy. ProLogis anticipates that future repayments of its lines of credit borrowings will be funded primarily through the proceeds from future property contributions and sales and from proceeds generated by future issuances of debt or equity securities, depending on market conditions. Such regular repayments of lines of credit borrowings are necessary to allow ProLogis to maintain adequate liquidity.

In addition to its Common Share distribution and Preferred Share dividend requirements, ProLogis expects that its primary cash needs will consist of the following for the remainder of 2005 and future years:

Acquisitions of land for future development;

Development and acquisitions of properties in the CDFS business segment;

42

Table of Contents

Direct acquisitions of operating properties and/or portfolios of operating properties in key distribution markets for direct, long-term investment in the property operations segment; and Repayment of debt that is scheduled to mature.

While ProLogis has a Common Share repurchase program under which it may repurchase an additional $84.1 million of Common Shares at May 5, 2005, ProLogis has not repurchased any Common Shares since 2003 and does not currently expect that it will require cash for this program in 2005.

ProLogis expects to fund its cash needs for the remainder of 2005 and future years primarily with cash from the following sources:

Property operations;

Proceeds from the disposition of the net assets of ProLogis temperature controlled distribution operations in France that are classified as held for sale;

Proceeds from the contributions of properties to property funds (existing property funds and property funds that may be formed in the future);

Proceeds from the sales of properties to third parties;

Proceeds from the issuance of longer-term senior notes;

Utilization of ProLogis existing or new lines of credit; and Proceeds from the sales of Common Shares, including sales of Common Shares under ProLogis various Common Share plans, and sales of Preferred Shares, subject to market conditions.

At May 5, 2005, ProLogis had $695.4 million of shelf-registered securities that can be issued in the form of senior notes, Preferred Shares, Common Shares, rights to purchase Common Shares and Preferred Share purchase rights on an as-needed basis, subject to ProLogis ability to affect an offering on satisfactory terms. ProLogis continues to evaluate the global public debt markets with the objective of reducing its shorter-term borrowings in favor of longer-term, fixed-rate debt, when it is deemed appropriate.

ProLogis is committed to offer to contribute all of its stabilized development properties available in specific markets in Europe to ProLogis European Properties Fund through September 2019 and all of its stabilized development properties available in Japan to ProLogis Japan Properties Fund through June 2006. These property funds are committed to acquire such properties, subject to the property meeting certain specified criteria, including leasing criteria, and the property fund having available capital. ProLogis believes that, while the current capital commitments and borrowing capacities of these property funds may be expended prior to the expiration dates of these commitments, each property fund does have sufficient capital to acquire the properties that ProLogis expects to have available during the remainder of 2005.

ProLogis North American Properties Fund V has the right of first offer to all of ProLogis stabilized development properties that ProLogis desires to sell in North America through the end of 2005. Properties subject to the right of first offer must meet certain specified leasing and other criteria. While ProLogis North American Properties Fund V's majority owner is a listed property trust in Australia that is able to raise capital in the public market, there can be no assurance that ProLogis North American Properties Fund V will have the available capital to acquire additional properties from ProLogis during the remainder of 2005 or, if capital is available, that ProLogis North American Properties Fund V will want to use its capital to acquire properties from ProLogis. Should ProLogis North American Properties Fund V choose not to acquire, or not have sufficient capital available to acquire, a property that meets the specified criteria, its rights under the agreement will terminate.

Table of Contents

Should the property funds not have sufficient capital to acquire the properties that ProLogis has available or otherwise choose not to acquire properties from ProLogis, ProLogis is allowed to pursue other disposition opportunities. However, there can be no assurance that ProLogis can readily dispose of its CDFS business properties to third parties or that ProLogis could raise private capital through the formation of another property fund that would acquire the properties. Also, ProLogis could experience delays in completing dispositions to third parties or to new property funds. Such delays could result in the recognition of the expected CDFS business income in a reporting period that is later than originally anticipated.

Cash Provided by Operating Activities

Net cash provided by operating activities was $85.8 million for the first three months in 2005 and $96.2 million for the first three months in 2004. Operational items that impact net cash provided by operating activities are discussed in - Results of Operations. Cash provided by operating activities exceeded the cash distributions paid on Common Shares and dividends paid on preferred shares in both periods.

Cash Investing and Cash Financing Activities

For the first three months in 2005 and 2004, ProLogis investing activities used net cash of $240.7 million and $185.9 million, respectively. The net cash used is summarized as follows:

Investments in real estate (both acquisition and development expenditures), as well as recurring capital expenditures, tenant improvements and lease commissions on previously leased space required cash of $554.0 million in the first quarter of 2005 and $421.8 million in the first quarter of 2004.

Invested or advanced a net $2.6 million to ProLogis unconsolidated investees in the first quarter of 2005 and generated net cash from unconsolidated investees of $15.1 million in the first quarter of 2004. The property funds make periodic cash distributions to ProLogis, generally on a monthly or quarterly basis.

Generated net cash of $60.0 million in the first quarter of 2005 from the repayment of notes receivable issued in 2004 in connection with the sale of a property to a third party.

Net cash generated from contributions and sales of properties and land parcels were $255.9 million and $217.5 million in the first quarter of 2005 and the first quarter of 2004, respectively.

For the first quarters of 2005 and 2004, ProLogis financing activities provided net cash of $265.9 million and used net cash of $69.0 million, respectively. Excluding cash distributions on Common Shares and to minority interest holders and Preferred Share dividends paid in cash, ProLogis financing activities are summarized as follows:

Generated net cash of $343.3 million in the first quarter of 2005 Net borrowings on ProLogis lines of credit and short-term borrowing arrangements ($351.9 million) and net proceeds from sales and issuances of Common Shares ($12.4 million) provided cash while principal payments on debt ($20.0 million), and purchases of derivative contracts ($1.0 million) used cash.

Generated net cash of $5.5 million in the first quarter of 2004 Net borrowings on ProLogis lines of credit ($151.3 million) and net proceeds from sales and issuances of Common Shares ($18.7 million) provided cash while the redemption of Preferred Shares ($125.0 million), principal payments on debt ($38.6 million), debt and equity issuance costs ($0.5 million) and purchases of derivative contracts ($0.4 million) used cash.

Distributions paid to holders of Common Shares were $68.9 million and $66.0 million for the first three months in 2005 and 2004, respectively. Distributions paid to minority interest holders were $2.1 million and $1.8 million for the first three months in 2005 and 2004, respectively. Dividends paid on Preferred Shares were $6.4 million and $6.7 million for the first three months in 2005 and 2004, respectively.

Table of ContentsBorrowing Capacities*

ProLogis has over $1.8 billion of short-term borrowing capacity through six lines of credit under which ProLogis may borrow in four currencies. The lines of credit are summarized below for the periods indicated (dollar amounts in millions of U.S. dollars, as applicable):

- (1) Represents the weighted average interest rate on borrowings outstanding at March 31, 2005.
- (2) Borrowing capacity under the line of credit is fully committed.
- (3) The credit agreement may be extended for one year from this date at ProLogis' option.
- (4) Borrowings can be denominated in U.S. dollar, euro, pound sterling and yen.
- (5) ProLogis' maximum borrowing capacity at March 31, 2005 and May 5, 2005 is reduced by letters of credit outstanding of $6.6 million and $8.5 million, respectively.
- (6) Total committed borrowing capacity under the agreement is 450.0 million euro. At March 31, 2005, amounts outstanding represent the U.S. dollar equivalent of borrowings of 351.5 million euro and 97.0 million pound sterling. At May 5, 2005, amounts outstanding represent the U.S. dollar equivalent of borrowings of 381.0 million euro and 60.3 million pound sterling.
- (7) Borrowings are denominated in pound sterling with a maximum borrowing capacity of 25.0 million pound sterling. ProLogis' maximum borrowing capacity at March 31, 2005 and May 5, 2005, is reduced by letters of credit outstanding of approximately $27.4 million (the currency equivalent of 14.5 million pound sterling at March 31, 2005) and approximately $27.2 million (the currency equivalent of 14.3 million pound sterling at May 5, 2005), respectively.
- (8) Borrowings are denominated in yen with a committed borrowing capacity of 65.0 billion yen. At March 31, 2005 and May 5, 2005, amounts outstanding represent the U.S. dollar equivalent of borrowings of 58.4 billion yen and 60.9 billion yen, respectively.

In addition to the short-term borrowing capacity available through the six lines of credit, ProLogis had a short-term borrowing arrangement in the amount of 62.1 million Canadian dollars (the currency equivalent of approximately $51.2 million at March 31, 2005) through May 18, 2005. At March 31, 2005, ProLogis had borrowed 58.3 million

Canadian dollars under the agreement (the U.S. currency equivalent of approximately $48.0 million at March 31, 2005) at an average annual interest rate of 3.3%.

(1) Of the total third party debt, ProLogis had guaranteed $105.4 million of borrowings of ProLogis North American Properties Fund V, which mature in July 2005. On May 5, 2005, ProLogis North American Properties Fund V entered into an interest rate lock agreement for a secured loan of $150 million. ProLogis expects that the proceeds of this secured debt financing, which will not be guaranteed by ProLogis and is subject to customary due diligence, will be used to repay these borrowings. Also, see - Contractual Obligations Other Commitments. ProLogis may in the future provide guarantees of short-term financing arrangements that property funds enter into associated with ProLogis contributions of properties to the property funds. ProLogis would provide these guarantees only with respect to short-term financing arrangements that the property funds enter into on an interim basis prior to finalizing long-term secured debt arrangements.

Contractual Obligations

Distribution and Dividend Requirements

ProLogis' Common Share distribution policy is to distribute a percentage of its cash flow that ensures that ProLogis will meet the distribution requirements of the Code and that allows ProLogis to maximize the cash retained to meet other cash needs such as capital improvements and other investment activities. Because depreciation is a non-cash expense, cash flow typically will be greater than operating income and net earnings.

The Board set a projected annual distribution rate for 2005 of $1.48 per Common Share. The annual distribution rate for 2004 was $1.46 per Common Share. ProLogis paid a distribution for the first quarter of 2005 of $0.37 per Common Share on February 28, 2005 to holders of Common Shares at February 15, 2005. The payment of Common Share distributions is subject to the discretion of the Board, is dependent on ProLogis' financial condition and operating results and may be adjusted at the discretion of the Board. ProLogis has increased its Common Share distribution level every year since its Common Shares became publicly traded in 1994.

At March 31, 2005, ProLogis had three series of Preferred Shares outstanding. The annual dividend rates on ProLogis' Preferred Shares are $4.27 per Series C Preferred Share, $1.6875 per Series F Preferred Share and $1.6875 per Series G Preferred Share. ProLogis paid a quarterly dividend of each series of Preferred Shares on March 31, 2005 ($1.067 per Series C Preferred Share and $0.4219 per Series F and Series G Preferred Shares).

Pursuant to the terms of its Preferred Shares, ProLogis is restricted from declaring or paying any distribution with respect to its Common Shares unless and until all cumulative dividends with respect to the Preferred Shares have been paid and sufficient funds have been set aside for dividends that have been declared for the then current dividend period with respect to the Preferred Shares.

Other Commitments

At March 31, 2005, ProLogis had letters of intent or contingent contracts, subject to ProLogis' final due diligence, for the acquisition of properties aggregating approximately 5.0 million square feet at an estimated total acquisition cost of approximately $250.0 million. These transactions are subject to a number of conditions and ProLogis cannot predict with certainty that they will be consummated.

ProLogis, from time to time, enters into Special Limited Contribution Agreements ( SLCA ) in connection with certain of its contributions of properties to certain of its property funds. Under the SLCAs, ProLogis is obligated to make an additional capital contribution to the respective property fund under certain circumstances, the occurrence of which ProLogis believes to be remote. Specifically, ProLogis would be required to make an additional capital contribution to the property fund if the property fund's third-party lender, whose loans to the property fund are generally secured by the property fund's assets and are non-recourse, does not receive a specified minimum level of debt repayment. However, the proceeds received by the third-party lender from the exhaustion of all of the assets of the property fund combined with the debt repayments received directly from the property fund will reduce ProLogis obligations under the SLCA on a dollar-for-dollar basis. ProLogis' potential obligations under the respective SLCA's, as a percentage of the undepreciated book value of the assets in the property funds, range from 2% to 28%. Accordingly, the value of the assets of the respective property funds would have to decline by between 98% and 72% from the book value before ProLogis would be required to make an additional capital contribution. ProLogis believes that the likelihood of declines in the values of the assets that support the third-party loans of the magnitude necessary to require an additional capital contribution is remote, especially in light of the geographically diversified portfolios of properties owned by the property funds. Accordingly, these potential obligations have not been recognized as a liability by ProLogis at March 31, 2005 and ProLogis has assessed a nominal value to the obligation undertaken through the SLCAs. The potential obligations under the SLCAs aggregate $404.8 million at March 31, 2005 and the combined book value of the assets in the property funds, before depreciation, that are subject to the provisions of the SLCAs was approximately $6.8 billion at March 31, 2005.

New Accounting Pronouncements

On December 16, 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued SFAS No. 123R, Share Based Payment which requires ProLogis and other public companies to measure the cost of employee services received in exchange for an award of an equity instrument based on the award's fair value on the grant date. The cost of these awards will be recognized over the period during which an employee is required to provide service in exchange for the award, generally the vesting period. In addition, a public company will measure the cost of employee services received in exchange for an award of liability instruments at its initial fair value, which will subsequently be remeasured at each reporting period. Changes in fair value during the service period will be recognized as compensation expense over that period. SFAS No. 123R is effective for ProLogis beginning in the first quarter of 2006, however, early adoption is allowed. ProLogis is currently evaluating the impact the adoption of SFAS No. 123R will have on its financial position and its results of operations.

Funds from Operations

Funds from operations is a non-GAAP measure that is commonly used in the real estate industry. The most directly comparable GAAP measure to funds from operations is net earnings. Although the National Association of Real Estate Investment Trusts ( NAREIT ) has published a definition of funds from operations, modifications to the NAREIT calculation of funds from operations are common among REITs, as companies seek to provide financial measures that meaningfully reflect their business. Funds from operations, as defined by ProLogis, is presented as a supplemental financial measure. Funds from operations is not used by ProLogis as, nor should it be considered to be, an alternative to net earnings computed under GAAP as an indicator of ProLogis' operating performance or as an alternative to cash from operating activities computed under GAAP as an indicator of ProLogis' ability to fund its cash needs.

Funds from operations is not meant to represent a comprehensive system of financial reporting and does not present, nor does ProLogis intend it to present, a complete picture of its financial condition and operating performance. ProLogis believes that net earnings computed under GAAP remains the primary measure of performance and that funds from operations is only meaningful when it is used in conjunction with net earnings computed under GAAP. Further, ProLogis believes that its consolidated financial statements, prepared in accordance with GAAP, provide the most meaningful picture of its financial condition and its operating performance.

NAREIT's funds from operations measure adjusts net earnings computed under GAAP to exclude historical cost depreciation and gains and losses from the sales of previously depreciated properties. ProLogis agrees that these two NAREIT adjustments are useful to investors for the following reasons:

(a) historical cost accounting for real estate assets in accordance with GAAP assumes, through depreciation charges, that the value of real estate assets diminishes predictably over time. NAREIT stated in its White Paper on Funds from Operations since real estate asset values have historically risen or fallen with market conditions, many industry investors have considered presentations of operating results for real estate companies that use historical cost accounting to be insufficient by themselves. Consequently, NAREIT's definition of funds from operations reflects the fact that real estate, as an asset class, generally appreciates over time and depreciation charges required by GAAP do not reflect the underlying economic realities.

(b) REITs were created as a legal form of organization in order to encourage public ownership of real estate as an asset class through investment in firms that were in the business of long-term ownership and management of real estate. The exclusion, in NAREIT's definition of funds from operations, of gains and losses from the sales of previously depreciated operating real estate assets allows investors and analysts to readily identify the operating results of the long-term assets that form the core of a REIT's activity and assists in comparing those operating results between periods.

At the same time that NAREIT created and defined its funds from operations concept for the REIT industry, it also recognized that management of each of its member companies has the responsibility and authority to publish financial information that it regards as useful to the financial community. ProLogis believes that financial analysts, potential investors and shareholders who review its operating results are best served by a defined funds from operations measure that includes other adjustments to net earnings computed under GAAP in addition to those included in the NAREIT defined measure of funds from operations.

The ProLogis defined funds from operations measure excludes the following items from net earnings computed under GAAP that are not excluded in the NAREIT defined funds from operations measure: (i) deferred income tax benefits and deferred income tax expenses recognized by ProLogis taxable subsidiaries; (ii) certain foreign currency exchange gains and losses resulting from certain debt transactions between ProLogis and its foreign consolidated subsidiaries and its foreign unconsolidated investees; (iii) foreign currency exchange gains and losses from the remeasurement (based on current foreign currency exchange rates) of certain third party debt of ProLogis foreign consolidated subsidiaries and its foreign unconsolidated investees; and (iv) mark-to-market adjustments associated with derivative financial instruments utilized to manage ProLogis foreign currency risks. Funds from operations of ProLogis unconsolidated investees is calculated on the same basis as ProLogis.

The items that ProLogis excludes from net earnings computed under GAAP, while not infrequent or unusual, are subject to significant fluctuations from period to period that cause both positive and negative effects on ProLogis results of operations, in inconsistent and unpredictable directions. Most importantly, the economics underlying the items that ProLogis excludes from net earnings computed under GAAP are not the primary drivers in management's decision-making process and capital investment decisions. Period to period fluctuations in these items can be driven by accounting for short-term factors that are not relevant to long-term investment decisions, long-term capital structures or long-term tax planning and tax structuring decisions. Accordingly, ProLogis believes that investors are best served if the information that is made available to them allows them to align their analysis and evaluation of ProLogis operating results along the same lines that ProLogis management uses in planning and executing its business strategy.

Real estate is a capital-intensive business. Investors' analyses of the performance of real estate companies tend to be centered on understanding the asset value created by real estate investment decisions and understanding current operating returns that are being generated by those same investment decisions. The adjustments to net earnings computed under GAAP that are included in arriving at the ProLogis defined funds from operations measure are helpful to management in making real estate investment decisions and evaluating its current operating performance. ProLogis believes that these adjustments are also helpful to industry analysts, potential investors and shareholders in their understanding and evaluation of ProLogis performance on the key measures of net asset value and current operating returns generated on real estate investments.

While ProLogis believes that its defined funds from operations measure is an important supplemental measure, neither NAREIT's nor ProLogis' measure of funds from operations should be used alone because they exclude significant economic components of net earnings computed under GAAP and are, therefore, limited as an analytical tool. Some of these limitations are:

Depreciation and amortization of real estate assets are economic costs that are excluded from funds from operations. Funds from operations is limited as it does not reflect the cash requirements that may be necessary for future replacements of the real estate assets. Further, the amortization of capital expenditures and leasing costs necessary to maintain the operating performance of distribution properties are not reflected in funds from operations.

Gains or losses from property dispositions represent changes in the value of the disposed properties. Funds from operations, by excluding these gains and losses, does not capture realized changes in the value of disposed properties arising from changes in market conditions.

The deferred income tax benefits and expenses that are excluded from ProLogis' defined funds from operations measure result from the creation of a deferred income tax asset or liability that may have to be settled at some future point. ProLogis' defined funds from operations measure does not currently reflect any income or expense that may result from such settlement.

The foreign currency exchange gains and losses that are excluded from ProLogis' defined funds from operations measure are generally recognized based on movements in foreign currency exchange rates through a specific point in time. The ultimate settlement of ProLogis' foreign currency-denominated net assets is indefinite as to timing and amount. ProLogis' funds from operations measure is limited in that it does not reflect the current period changes in these net assets that result from periodic foreign currency exchange rate movements.

ProLogis compensates for these limitations by using its funds from operations measure only in conjunction with net earnings computed under GAAP. To further compensate, ProLogis always reconciles its funds from operations measure to net earnings computed under GAAP in its financial reports. Additionally, ProLogis provides investors with its complete financial statements prepared under GAAP, its definition of funds from operations which includes a discussion of the limitations of using ProLogis non-GAAP measure and a reconciliation of ProLogis GAAP measure (net earnings) to its non-GAAP measure (funds from operations as defined by ProLogis) so that investors can appropriately incorporate this ProLogis measure and its limitations into their analyses.

Funds from operations attributable to Common Shares as defined by ProLogis was $106.0 million and $91.8 million for the three months ended March 31, 2005 and 2004, respectively. The reconciliations of funds from operations attributable to Common Shares as defined by ProLogis to net earnings attributable to Common Shares computed under GAAP are as follows for the periods indicated (in thousands of U.S. dollars):

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

As of March 31, 2005, no significant change had occurred in ProLogis' interest rate risk or foreign currency risk as discussed in ProLogis' 2004 Annual Report on Form 10-K/A #1. See Note 13 to ProLogis' Consolidated Condensed Financial Statements in Item 1 for information related to instruments utilized by ProLogis to manage certain of these risks.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

An evaluation was carried out under the supervision and with the participation of ProLogis' management, including its Chief Executive Officer and its Chief Financial Officer, of the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures (as defined in Rule 13a-14(c)) under the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934 (the Exchange Act) as of March 31, 2005. Based on this evaluation, the Chief Executive Officer and the Chief Financial Officer have concluded that ProLogis' disclosure controls and procedures are effective to ensure that information required to be disclosed by ProLogis in reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the SEC rules and forms.

PART II

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

From time to time, ProLogis and its unconsolidated investees are parties to a variety of legal proceedings arising in the ordinary course of their businesses. ProLogis believes that, with respect to any such matters that it is currently a party to, the ultimate disposition of any such matters will not result in a material adverse effect on ProLogis' business, financial position or results of operations.

Item 2. Unregistered Sales of Equity Securities and Use of Proceeds

In 2005, ProLogis issued 11,000 Common Shares upon exchange of limited partnership units in two of ProLogis' majority-owned and controlled real estate partnerships. The Common Shares were issued in transactions exempt from registration under Section 4(2) of the Securities Act of 1933.
