(c) The accountant's statement or other exhibit required by Rule 12b-25(c) has been attached if applicable.

Part III Narrative

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

As previously announced, Affiliated Computer Services, Inc. (the Company or ACS) received a letter dated March 1, 2006 from the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC) informing the Company that the SEC had begun an informal investigation into stock option grants made by ACS from October 1998 through March 2005. The Company is cooperating with the SEC in connection with its investigation. In addition, ACS has also been named as a nominal defendant in three separate shareholder derivative suits filed in State District Court in Dallas, Texas and in the Chancery Court of Delaware (New Castle County). In each of those suits, certain ACS directors and a former officer have also been named as defendants. The suits allege breach of fiduciary duties and unjust enrichment related to certain stock option grants to certain officers during prior periods ranging from 1996 through 2002. The Texas suits also allege breach of fiduciary duties and unjust enrichment in connection with the Company's purchase of vested stock options from its former chief executive officer in September 2005. ACS intends to vigorously defend the lawsuits.

At the direction of the Company's Board of Directors, in response to the informal SEC investigation noted above, ACS has commenced an internal investigation through its regular outside counsel into the Company's historical stock option practices, including a review of the Company's underlying option grant documentation and procedures. Due to the volume of data subject to this review, the Company is unable to complete and file by the prescribed due date its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarter ended March 31, 2006 without unreasonable effort or expense. The Company is working diligently to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q by the fifth calendar day following the required filing date as prescribed in Rule 12b-25, although the determination of the final amount of the non-cash stock-based compensation expense charge noted below and the related determination concerning whether a restatement of prior period financial statements will be necessary may result in the inability of the Company to meet this filing date.

Historically, the Company has granted stock options principally utilizing a process whereby its compensation committee or special compensation committee, as applicable, would approve stock option grants through unanimous written consents with specified effective dates that generally preceded the date on which the consents had been executed by all members of the applicable compensation committee. In connection with option grants to senior executives, the historical practice was for the Company's chairman, who during periods prior to September 2003 was also a member of the Company's compensation committee, to engage, on a relatively contemporaneous basis with the effective date specified in the written consent, in individual telephonic discussions with each of the members of the applicable compensation committee, during which the committee member would indicate his approval of the option grants in question. In connection with significant acquisitions, the Company's historical practice was for its Board of Directors (including members of the applicable compensation committee) to consider during board meetings convened for the purpose of approving an acquisition the proposed stock option component that would be designated to an acquisition target's management team, with a unanimous written consent of the applicable compensation committee to follow at a later time with a specified effective date for the option grants in question.

Based on its option grant procedures, the Company has historically considered the effective date specified in the written consents by the applicable compensation committee as the accounting measurement date for determining stock-based compensation expense under APB 25 and SFAS 123(R). However, the Company has determined, in consultation with its independent public accounting firm, that the proper accounting measurement date for stock option awards cannot precede the date on which the grants were approved through the execution of written consents or through a valid meeting of the applicable compensation committee. Notwithstanding the Company's accounting determination noted above, the Company believes that (i) its historical written consent effective date process is permitted under the Company's current and predecessor stock option plans and Delaware corporate law, (ii) the Company has consistently followed this process in prior accounting periods, and (iii) in many cases, the grants in question had been verbally discussed and approved by each of the members of the applicable compensation committee on a relatively contemporaneous basis with the specified effective date of those grants.

Accordingly, based on the preliminary results of its review of the Company's historical stock option practices, including its underlying option grant documentation and procedures, and the initial findings of its internal investigation (which is on-going and not complete as of the date of this filing), the Company has preliminarily determined that it will record a cumulative prior period non-cash stock-based compensation expense charge in an amount that is not presently anticipated to exceed approximately $40 million. This charge relates to certain of the option grants covering approximately 24 million common shares (after giving effect to forfeitures of option grants covering approximately 7 million common shares) by the Company subsequent to its initial public offering in 1994 and through December 31, 2005. During this same period, the Company recorded a cumulative pre-tax profit of approximately $3.5 billion. At this time, ACS is unable to determine the final amount of such adjustment or whether such adjustment will require a restatement of prior period financial statements or will be reflected in its third quarter 2006 results of operations. Such determinations will be made prior to the Company's filing of its Form 10-Q for the third quarter ended March 31, 2006. The Company is also evaluating the impact of this matter on its internal control over financial reporting and related report thereon as of June 30, 2005 as well as its disclosure controls and procedures. In that regard, the Company intends to revise its stock option grant procedures so that all future grants are contemporaneously approved in formal meetings of the compensation committee.

Notwithstanding the above-referenced accounting determination, based on the initial findings of its internal investigation (which is on-going and not complete as of the date of this filing), ACS does not believe that any director or officer of the Company has engaged in the intentional backdating of stock option grants in order to achieve a more advantageous exercise price.
